TWO-FACED PICASSO TO PUZZLE PURCHASER

LONDON (UPI)—Whoever buys the $170,000 Pablo Picasso painting "Death of Harlequin" at auction here will face a peculiar problem—what to do about a $60,000 Picasso painted on its back.

The two-faced painting, one of 32 pictures belonging to author Somerset Maugham which will be auctioned, is on plasterboard about three-sixteenths of an inch thick.

"Whoever buys it would stand some chance of splitting it into two separate pictures—but at great risk," said a spokesman.

He said it had been known for some time that there was another painting on the back of "Harlequin," but that its worth was not realized until the picture was taken out of its frame to be auctioned.

NDP Blisters Oil Magnate's 'Profiteering'

By FRANK RU[illegible]R
Times Legislative Reporter

The Social Credit government Thursday defeated a non-confidence motion based on charges it allowed oil tycoon Frank McMahon to make gigantic profits at the taxpayers' expense.

ALEX MACDONALD
. . . "pipeline scandal of 1961"

The vote came after a fierce attack on Mr. McMahon in the legislature by New Democratic Party-CCF member Alex Macdonald, of Vancouver East.

Mr. Macdonald said Mr. McMahon and his friends made $11,250,000 from transferring rights of way from one company to another in order to build the new crude oil pipeline from the Peace River country to Vancouver.

The rights of way were transferred from Westcoast Transmission to Western Pacific Products, which actually built the line. Both are McMahon companies.

32-14 VOTE

The four Liberals voted with the government, because, said Oak Bay MLA Alan Macfarlane, they could not condemn a man without a full hearing.

The vote was 32-14.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, his voice shaking with anger, branded the NDP charges as "being completely at variance with the facts".

He said future production and marketing of the oil would justify completely the McMahon pipeline.

Mr. Macdonald said the McMahon interests also took options—with no initial investment—on Western stock which since had soared in value.

FORCED OUT

He said the government had made its conditions so tough that another pipeline company had to back out of the project, leaving McMahon the only contender for a franchise.

He linked McMahon to Social Credit campaign funds and propaganda which helped the party win 1960's election.

"The motorists of the province should know that when they pay for their gas, they will be paying off these promoters' secret profits for years to come. They should know they will be paying off the political debts of the Social Credit government.

'PROFITEERING'

"It is a disgrace to this province that any government should be allowed to reward its friends by allowing profiteering in public utilities whereby the consumer pays, and industry pays, and legitimate investors pay, for this government which has lost the right to govern."

His non-confidence motion regretted that the throne speech did not contain any measures to protect the public

Probe Asked By Liberal On Oil Profit

Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane today called for a special committee of the legislature to investigate charges made Thursday that oil promoters have made huge private fortunes at public expense.

Mr. Macfarlane filed notice that he will move the committee be set up by the House.

New Democratic Party-CCF member Alex Macdonald of Vancouver East charged that Mr. McMahon had made $11,250,000 without risking a cent through a government franchise to build his Western Pacific Products crude oil pipeline from the Peace River to Vancouver.

Mr. Macfarlane's motion said a committee should be empowered to examine these "serious allegations."

The committee should have power to send for persons, papers and records in order to make a report on the oil and gas industry, it said.

PEACE RIVER LICENCE BID

B.C. Prepares For Showdown

Any doubts about the B.C. government's intentions of actually building the Peace River power project were dispelled Thursday night by new plans announced in the legislature.

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston admitted that there were such doubts abroad.

He said that even businessmen from the Peace River country met "a stone wall" when they came to Vancouver six weeks ago to seek financing for local projects.

And at the same time he announced the move which could bring a final showdown on the issue with the federal government.

Mr. Williston disclosed these new plans:

- Surveys are under way for possible extension of the PGE railway to the dam site at Portage Mountain;
- Studies are also being made for a pulp mill there which would operate for 15 years on salvage wood from the flooded area;
- A water licence application is now being drawn-up;
- Bids will close March 8 on three diversion tunnels (first major step in the project) and 50 sets of specifications have been taken out by interested firms;
- Construction will be phased so that the level of water in the new reservoir is raised at the same rate that timber is harvested to avoid waste;
- Work will start this spring on a new transmission line between Lillooet and Prince George which may be extended to the dam site to provide power during construction;
- After the dam is built the power flow will be reversed and the line used to carry Peace power to the north central area.

New Soviet Formula For Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Soviet Union has proposed separate United Nations membership for East and West Germany and for West Berlin, well-informed sources said today.

The proposals were advanced in one of the two documents given to Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow Jan. 12.

The paper, authoritative sources said, discussed Soviet ideas for changing the status of West Berlin to that of a free city.

The other document covered the Soviet concept of future association between East and West Germany on the one hand, and ideas on what links should remain between West Germany and the "free" West Berlin on the other. The Soviet formula calls for a full political divorce between West Berlin and West Germany, and only limited economic ties.

Army Tanks Converge On Paris

PARIS (AP) — French Army tanks converged on Paris today to forestall any attempt by the right-wing secret army to overthrow President Charles de Gaulle as reports of an imminent peace pact for Algeria persisted.

With mounted machine-guns, two squadrons totalling 32 tanks moved on the capital to give armored support to 25,000 riot police placed on the alert against the threat of an uprising by the rightist underground fighting against independence for the North African territory.

De Gaulle will address the country by radio and television Monday night in what shaped up as a crucial statement on the long secret negotiations with the Algerian Nationalist Liberation Front to end the seven-year rebellion.

Informed diplomatic sources said the agreement already had been drafted and needed only the formal signatures of both sides.

COUP ATTEMPT FEARED

France's allies have been notified that the De Gaulle regime seriously fears an attempted coup by the right-wing extremists either in France or Algeria —or in both places—when the peace accord is announced.

In Algiers, a plastic bomb exploded Thursday destroyed the radio facilities of the city's prefecture.

The Algerian rebel cabinet was meeting today in Tunis to take up the projected peace accord before putting it before a special session of the National Revolutionary Council —a sort of rebel parliament— in Tripoli within the next two weeks.

Argentina Recalls Cuba Envoy

The step had been expected as President Arturo Frondizi sought to appease military critics of his soft line toward the Fidel Castro regime at the recent inter-American foreign ministers' conference.

Recalling the ambassador does not constitute a diplomatic break, but morning newspapers here had suggested that the crisis between the president and the nation's leading military men was nearing an end. They predicted a gradual break in relations with Cuba.

However, many officers were reported still demanding the immediate complete break which the nation's military leadership demanded in an ultimatum to the president Thursday night.

Escaped Convicts Terrorize Farmer

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Three knife-wielding men held a 70-year-old farmer prisoner in his own home for 7½ hours Thursday night, then escaped in his car before dawn.

Reply Given Rusk Appeal

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Prime Minister Diefenbaker in House of Commons today served notice on the United States that Canadian policy on trade with Cuba will be made in Ottawa, not in Washington.

Amid loud applause from the government members the Prime Minister firmly rejected the suggestion made by United States Secretary Dean Rusk that Cuba had been using dollars earned in its trade with Canada to "promote Communist subversion in neighboring countries" of Latin-America.

Mr. Diefenbaker cited statistics to show that Cuba had not been earning dollars in its trade with Canada.

CANADA NOT NAMED

The question came up in the Commons as a result of an appeal made by Mr. Rusk that friendly nations follow the isolate-Cuba line of the Organization of American States.

Mr. Rusk made the appeal at a press conference. However he declined to single out Canada or any other nation when asked whether Canadian co-operation would be necessary to make the OAS policy towards Cuba effective. (See story, Page 5).

Canada is the only independent nation in the western hemisphere outside of the OAS. Foreign ministers of the organization voted this week to toss out Cuba but implementation of this vote is expected to take some time.

FIGURES PROVE POINT

Reaction in Canada's capital was that Mr. Rusk's admonition was directed at this country.

The criticism, if directed at Canada, was unfounded, the Prime Minister indicated. And he had the trade figures to back up his claim.

Canadian exports to Cuba were nearly five times her imports from that country. Consequently Canadian trade actually was taking up dollars that the Cuban government earned elsewhere. Far from providing Cuba with dollars by which it might spread Communism, Canada was in fact "soaking up" dollars that might otherwise be used by Cuba in its efforts to make Latin America Communist, the Prime Minister pointed out.

He made it clear that Can-

EDMONTON (CP) — Five students and a teacher of a suburban high school have been found to be suffering from tuberculosis and about 85 other students showed positive reaction to a skin test, Dr. H. H. Stephens, director of Alberta's TB control division, said today.

Earlier Dr. Herman Siemans said 92 students and two teachers had contracted the disease.

Dr. Stephens said a positive reaction did not necessarily indicate a person had contracted TB.

The TB cases were uncovered in Salisbury High School, six miles southeast of Edmonton, after a teacher was found to be an active carrier.

Pickersgill Flies Two Flags ...Distinctive...Emblematic

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal MP J. W. Pickersgill said today statements by Opposition Leader Pearson mean two flags for Canada.

Mr. Pickersgill, Commons member for Bonavista-Twillingate, issued a clarifying statement today about remarks attributed to him at a press conference in Quebec, Thursday night, during which he commented on the flag question.

"What I was seeking to say was that the Liberal party at its national rally in January, 1961, had recommended that a Liberal government should take steps to give Canada a distinctive flag within a year of taking office and that Mr. Pearson, as party leader, had subsequently stated that he would favor "a distinctive Canadian flag which could not be mistaken for the flag of any other country" and he also said "whatever action Parliament might take in regard to a Canadian flag, I believe that the Union Jack should be accepted by Canada as an emblem to be flown on all occasions which are concerned with our Commonwealth association and our status as a monarchy with the Queen as head of that Commonwealth".

Mr. Pickersgill said "When I was asked if this would mean two flags, I said, yes; one distinctive of Canada and one containing the Union Jack for our association in the Commonwealth.

A Canadian Press report of the press conference quoted Mr. Pickersgill as saying there is no reason why Canada can't have two official flags just as he has two official languages.

The Quebec report, quoting Mr. Pickersgill, added:

"There must be a distinctive flag but if some people want a flag to recall their distinctive French heritage, I have no objection.

"My ancestor came here from the United States to live under the British flag, and I think I have as much right as anyone to have my heritage represented.

"That is why if you ask us to repudiate our past there would be cause for division."

B.C. CAN'T STAND MORE DEBT SAYS GIBSON

'Sober Up' Plea on Spending

By AB KENT

A warning to Premier Bennett to "sober up" his financial policies, because the people of British Columbia can stand no more debt, was made by North Vancouver Liberal member Gordon Gibson in the legislature Thursday.

In a 60-minute speech, the opposition member repeated again and again "you've gone too far", addressing himself directly to the premier.

Mr. Gibson's needling pricked the premier.

"What's that?" he snapped.

"He said you should sober up," called a voice from the NDP-CCF ranks.

The premier, a strict teetotaller, rose angrily: "Somebody else should try that too, for a change," he said, glowering at Mr. Gibson.

'SHAME'

The remark was met with loud cries of "Shame".

At one point in the debate, Mr. Gibson was warned by Speaker Hugh Shantz to steer away from the subject of B.C. Electric compensation, a matter in process of going before the courts.

The member accused Mr. Bennett of "letting down" the shareholders of B.C. Electric who were paid an arbitrary sum for their stock in the appropriated company.

"You definitely told me that if you got the green light to buy the B.C. Electric you would take the full responsibility," Mr. Gibson said.

"And I say it again tonight," the premier put in.

"You said it would be done honestly, fairly and justly and no one would be hurt," the member went on.

"I said I wouldn't interpret a single section. It's all there," said the premier, waving a copy of the takeover bill.

"You aren't Jesus Christ in this country, nor the law . . . there are arbitration courts . . . the law will say what was fair.

"You promised you'd do these people right and you've let us down. Let those shares go to court . . ." Mr. Gibson said.

Mr. Shantz ruled that he was getting near the forbidden ground and Mr. Gibson replied he would "slow down."

But he took the opportunity to speak on the subject of the courts. Premier Bennett had silenced him on the same grounds in the past, he pointed out.

"It took me two years to get back and tell my story, and I was very kindly," Mr. Gibson said.

(This was a reference to the famous "money talks" charges made in the legislature by Mr. Gibson when he was a member for Lillooet which resulted finally in jail for lands and forests minister Robert Sommers and timberman Wilson Gray.)

The premier challenged him to apologize and the member replied:

"I always apologize when I'm wrong and I want your apology for the way you've treated the B.C. Electric . . ."

He told the House he was far more experienced at spending money and hiring than the premier.

"We've heard enough boasting," Premier Bennett replied.

"I have the right to speak here," Mr. Gibson rejoined. "If you'd take it with a smile on your face I wouldn't talk so long.

'ABSOLUTE SUICIDE'

"You'll go bankrupt. You've gone far enough. You can't start watering stock.

"You're going too far.

"The public of British Columbia can't stand any more debt. There is twice the debt of any province in Canada.

"Our children will have to leave this country. They'll never be able to pay."

Holding up a wastebasket, Mr. Gibson said it was like a barrel.

"You can't take more out of the bottom than you put in at the top."

TAKES BLAME

He said he would take his full share of blame for voting approval of the B.C. Electric takeover. But he said he didn't think the premier had lived up to his word.

The premier should not become a power czar, he said, likening Mr. Bennett to a man with a mania.

He said he would know what to do for an alcoholic, "but I don't know what to do with you with this power mania. It's not like alcohol — the next morning you sober up—but this goes on and on."

"He's on a power jag," an NDP-CCF member quipped.

'THEY'RE JUNK'

He wanted to know why the government bought Black Ball Ferries.

"Why didn't you at least ask us? What are we here for? You had no right to buy those (ferries). They're junk. I know one thing; you weren't spending your own money."

He said he figured the price was three times too much at close to $7,000,000.

On the proposed sale of E & N Railway lands by the CPR, he suggested the government buy them as "a good investment."

Mr. Williston said later outside the House that applications for a British Columbia water licence and a federal government licence under the Navigable Waters Act will be sent out almost immediately.

The application to Ottawa will set the stage for a possible showdown.

Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton has dropped a number of hints that Ottawa might block the Peace project by denying a licence.

Mr. Williston, who won a thumping round of applause from all parties at the end of his speech, also defended his government's position on the Columbia River project.

He told MLAs: "If you can prove or show the stand we have taken is not the best for British Columbia I'll sit down with you and we'll come out with something better."

SHARED BY ALL

Mr. Williston said that objections to the Peace project on political grounds should now be dismissed because it was being developed publicly and its benefits will be shared by all.

He said objections on the ground of cost had been disproved by the B.C. Energy Board report, which showed it would be almost identical to Columbia power.

There will be markets for power from the Peace, particularly in its initial stage, which would be before the Columbia was producing power in British Columbia.

In fact, he added: "Unless we keep going on the site right now we're going to be in a power deficit position eight to 10 years from now.

In the Commons today at Ottawa, Works Minister Walker said any request for a dam construction permit on the Peace will be considered by the federal government but no such application has been received yet.

. . . CUBA TRADE

ada's government has no intention at this time of changing its trade policy with Cuba.

He stressed that Canada was not allowing the export of strategic materials to that country.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in the first nine months of 1961 Canada exported $21,500,000 worth of goods to Cuba while her imports from Cuba amounted to $4,600,000.

He compared these trade figures with the United States trade with Cuba. In the first nine months of last year the United States exported $13,300,000 worth of goods to Cuba and imported $26,800,000.

BEST FOR CANADA

The Prime Minister added: "With regard to the problem in general may I say that while naturally Canada is most desirous of co-operating at all times with friendly nations, the decision as to the course Canada shall take should be made by Canada on the basis of policies which we believe are appropriate to Canada."

He declared that trade with Cuba in non-strategic goods was heavily in favor of Canada and therefore there could be no possibility of earnings by Cuba on her exports being used to promote Communist subversion in neighboring countries.

The Canadian government, he said, has not been permitting the export of arms to that area for more than two years and in addition has not been allowing the export of strategic materials to Cuba.

Mr. Pearson asked Trade Minister George Hees for details on the actual steps taken to ensure that goods exported from the U.S. to Canada are not then re-exported from Canada to Cuba.

Mr. Hees explained that exporters of goods to Cuba were required to declare what goods were contained in the ships. If anything which comes from the U.S. is attempted to be shipped to Cuba, that shipment is refused. This had happened on a "number of occasions."

He added, "We are watching this matter very closely. I do not believe there has been a single instance in which goods which originated in the U.S. have been shipped to Cuba.".

'Forced Contributions' To Socreds Under Fire

Einar Gunderson, Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Robert Bonner are signing officers for "secret" Social Credit campaign funds, an Opposition MLA charged in the legislature Thursday.

Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCF Vancouver East) said, "These men handle hundreds of thousands of dollars raised by what are in effect forced contributions from people affected by government decisions".

'ON THE RACK'

He said such people as contractors and business officers are "on the rack" because they seek licences or contracts from the government.

The charge was denied by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"That is certainly not true," he called back.

Mr. Macdonald made a special attack on the role of Mr. Gunderson, one-time Social Credit finance minister — in business and government.

"Mr. Gunderson has been turning up on numerous occasions wherever public money changes hands, like Barnaby, in Babes of Toyland," said Mr. Macdonald.

He said Mr. Gunderson had been a director of Black Ball Ferries, "I suppose he is still in with the Wenner-Gren promoters; and involved with other firms.

"Mr. Gunderson says he resigned a week before the Black Ball deal (the government bought out the company for $6,700,000).

"What director is it who knows nothing about a transaction in which the entire Canadian assets are being disposed of? Why was he made a director if not to get terms out of this government?

'IMPROPER'

"As a government official (he's also a member of the Toll Authority), it is highly improper for him to be a director and be associated with a company doing business with the government.

"This would not be tolerated if the political morality of this province had not been allowed to sink under 10 years of Social Credit rule.

"Why do companies put Mr. Gunderson on their boards in the first place if it's not because they expect better terms of this government?"

Mr. Macdonald repeated the NDP's earlier plea for a legislative inquiry into campaign funds. He suggested legislation either controlling them to five cents a voter or allotting them entirely from public funds, as proposed in Quebec.

TO TAKE UP RESIDENCE in preparation for obtaining a divorce from the governor of New York, Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller arrived in Reno, Nevada, on Thursday.

Mr. Macdonald referred to the situation as "the pipeline scandals of 1961."

"The government has been like a mother to Frank McMahon," he said.

James Rhodes (NDP-CCF—Delta), seconding the motion, compared the issue to "the scandal which rocked the Liberal government out of Ottawa in 1957."

He said the $11,250,000 profit represented a cost of $35 per B.C. household "before the valves had even been turned on."

"This is why we have said natural monopolies such as pipelines don't belong in private hands at all."

'UNSOUND'

Mr. Kiernan said the NDP attack was "unsound, uncalled for and unsupported by fact."

Mr. McMahon was unable to defend himself in the legislature, he pointed out.

He said the reason McMahon's company got the franchise was that Peace River Pipe Lines, the original applicants, had every chance to go ahead and build their line, but kept seeking further "bargains," until the government finally said no.

Besides, their line would have carried only 24,000 barrels of oil a day; Western Pacific's line could handle up to 70,000.

It was true that Peace Pipe Lines' fees would have been "marginally" lower, but because of the quantity of oil carried, Western's rates would decline on a sliding basis.

Mr. Kiernan praised Mr. McMahon as "a pioneer" who had the courage to build his Westcoast Transmission line when nobody else believed it would pay off.

He said the McMahon line was justified by the jobs, and royalties and expansion it would bring to the province. By keeping it an all-B.C. line, instead of the Peace line's plan to go into Alberta, "we are masters in our own house."

Mr. Macfarlane said the NDP was really only proposing public ownership of pipelines. Apart from that all its motion did was to attack a man who had not received a chance to defend himself.

SMEARING HIM

"It is not to condemn the government but to smear and condemn a man without full and impartial hearing."

Mr. Macfarlane suggested the proper move would be to call a special legislative committee inquiry into the pipeline situation.

"We're on the verge here of perhaps making the same mistake as last August—of being stampeded without knowing all the facts."

He was referring to the B.C. Electric takeover last Aug. 1, which later resulted in a fierce battle between the government and shareholders over terms of compensation.

Impaired By Drugs

VANCOUVER — A 30-year-old man who said he had been an addict was fined $50 Wednesday for driving while impaired by narcotics.

Ernest Sonsteby said he took three narcotics withdrawal pills given him by the British Columbia Narcotic Foundation the day he drove into the back of a bus.

He said he was not impaired by the pills, as normally he used 10-15 caps of heroin a day. He said slippery streets and poor visibility contributed to the accident and symptoms of being under the influence of drugs was caused by a head injury received when he hit his head in the accident.

Magistrate N. J. Bartman said he was imposing a minimum fine because he was impressed with Sonsteby's attempt to give up narcotics.

Who Pays Campaign Funds?

CAMPAIGN FUNDS ARE ONE of democracy's oldest evils but it is absurd to say that they can be abolished by law. The perfectly legitimate costs of elections come high and must be paid.

Who should pay them? At present they are paid by anonymous donors who don't expect to spend their money for nothing. The anticipated future favors of governments in return for this financial support have always been an evil and usually paid in the end by the public, one way or another.

Everybody understands that but it takes a bold government to do anything about it. Such a government has appeared in Quebec where, under a law soon to be introduced in the legislature, campaign funds will be provided out of public revenues. Probably encouraged by the Quebec example, the Liberal party in Parliament proposes to introduce it into federal politics.

Under the scheme approved at a recent meeting of Liberal leaders in Ottawa every serious candidate for Parliament—that is to say every candidate who qualified under a known set of rules and was not running for the fun of it—would be allowed to spend a fixed amount of money on his campaign and no more. This money would be furnished by the public treasury.

Of course the amount of expenditure allowed would vary according to the population and area of the individual constituency, simply because the cost of elections in some of them is much higher than in others. It is a highly expensive business, for example, to manage a campaign in some sprawling rural area while it is relatively cheap, or should be, in a geographically small urban riding. No doubt a formula covering these divergent conditions and costs could be hammered out by a parliamentary committee.

But the main thing would be to police the formula, to prevent any candidate from spending more than the sum allowed him by law. Few would attempt to do so and those few, if caught in the act, would automatically lose their seats in Parliament after winning them in an illegal campaign. Better still, they should be put in jail. After some experiences of this sort the very few dishonest politicians, the vast majority being honest, would not take these risks.

The first purpose of the Liberal plan would be to make all election expenses known to everybody and to make sure that none of them was paid by private interests in the expectation of later rewards.

The second purpose would be to cut down the present costs of elections which are far too high and growing higher all the time when the expensive medium of television is so widely used.

Every politician knows that the cost already has become ridiculous but, worse than that, it is manifestly unfair that one candidate should have any advantage over another because he has more money to spend. The poor candidate and party should be on the same footing as the rich. So they would be under the Liberal plan.

It goes much further than the plan proposed by such leaders of the New Democratic Party as Mr. Strachan. As we understand him, he would force disclosure of all election expenses but he would put no limit on them, nor on the campaign funds collected by his own party from labor union members.

The Liberal plan, we think, does not go too far. It recognizes that democracy requires elections, that elections require money for perfectly legitimate reasons and that the public eventually will supply the money through secret or public channels. It is far better that the money should be provided openly, honestly and in strictly limited amounts than by political sugar-daddies always expecting their sugar.

The Contributing Principle

IT IS DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND the latest variation in the Liberal Party's old age pension policy. While this is only a minor postscript to the original announcement it is unnecessary and, we think, unwise.

The Liberals' contributory pension scheme, standing beside the present non-contributory scheme, would be financed entirely by deductions from all workers' pay cheques and by similar amounts from employers. Before the new system could go into effect it would be necessary to build up a reasonable sum of money for the payment of $20 a month more to existing pensioners, and for the pensions of those retiring later on.

But now we are told that half the Liberal plan could take effect immediately after the election of a Liberal government. The existing, non-contributory pension would be raised by $10 a month—to match the government's latest election bid—but the necessary funds, of roughly $100 millions for a year, would come from the public treasury. At the end of a year, apparently, pensions would be raised by $20 and all the needed money would be supplied from the contributory fund then accumulated.

The important question here is not the government revenue involved for only a year but the non-contributory principle.

The Liberal scheme is based on contributions, it has the virtue of absolute independence from the public treasury and is supposed to stand on its own feet from the start. So it should.

To make it dependent on government revenues for even a year would be a mistake not because it would weaken the treasury much—as the government's policy would do permanently—but because it would postpone the contributory principle for obvious election purposes.

Mr. George 'Tiny' Hobbs

THE TRIBUTES OF HIS COLLEAGUES in the legislature, political friend and opponent alike, have reflected the high regard in which the late George "Tiny" Hobbs was held.

Though he had been in the House only since 1960, the strapping figure from Revelstoke had enjoyed wide personal popularity, had made the weight of his opinions felt and had impressed everyone he met with the depth of his convictions and the principles he honored.

Many could, and did, disagree with the political faith "Tiny" Hobbs enunciated. In disagreement, they could share friendship and respect with him. A good man has been taken from British Columbia's public life.

Swordsman and Wordsman

ALTHOUGH HIS EMINENCE was never beyond professional controversy, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery has long enjoyed the good will of the English-speaking public at large. His deeds during the war, and some of his words afterwards, were acclaimed. His position in history as a result of his record was assured.

There is now danger, however, that the aging warrior may spoil his fame. During the past few years he has been trying, in his own way, to foster closer relations between East and West. He has visited Communist countries and talked with Communist leaders. This was all to the good.

The trouble has been that on frequent occasions Lord Montgomery has embarrassed his government and its allies with hearty approval of features of Communist life which are difficult to accept. Because of this he has depreciated his "image," in the modern parlance. His legend is deteriorating in a cloud of public statements on international affairs which one British newspaper describes as "the wrong thing in the wrong place at the wrong time."

The latest bout of criticism has been caused by Lord Montgomery's reported statement in South Africa, in which he promises to "draw my sword and come and help you myself" if "black people north of this country" should unite to "threaten the whites of South Africa."

The ex-soldier's intent no doubt was to try to strengthen the ties of the Commonwealth with the ousted country in which he spoke. But he cannot have failed to arouse millions of colored Commonwealth citizens to anger by tilting at the "northern" windmill, as well as to alienate millions of white citizens of the Commonwealth who better interpret the tides of this century.

"Kindly Move Along, Sir" . . .

THE FRIENDLY SEND-OFF By B. A. TOBIN

Bridging a Gulf With the Spoken Word

A news item tells of a noble member of the House of Lords who has advised everyone to read an American book which tells of the kinship between man and beast. The practical use of the information, says the lord in question, is that by talking in a kindly and reasonable fashion to animals and insects they may be persuaded to leave one's property. The speaker, in fact, noted that his mother-in-law had rid her house of rats by asking them nicely to leave, and a man had cleared his house of ants by telling them of his admiration for their industry and communal spirit.

Tobin

There may be something in this, you know. Let's see how it might work.

Man: "Good morning ants. I trust you have enjoyed a quiet and restful night. And may I at this time commend you for your daytime industriousness and diligence, your unswerving perseverance and attention to business, which has already become, if I may say so, a motto among men and an example to us all. It has occurred to me that the pursuit of your labors might better be carried on outside of my home, but this, of course, I leave to your good judgment and unfailing logic. And if at any time . . ."

Ant: "Hey, fellas, y' hear that? A man talking to ants! Must be a nut or somethin'. We better scram out of here before he gets violent." (EXEUNT)

* * *

Mother-in-Law: "Now, my pretty rats, I know you are all there in the walls and the floors and I hope you can hear me plainly because I do so love to have a chat with you, it's such a pleasure to have attentive listeners, and today I want to tell you about the most attractive dress I saw in a window yesterday because I was with Mrs. Doakes at the time—you've perhaps heard of her—her sister married into the Pomeroy family, you know, they're something in the City, well, we had just come out of McSnades where we'd had tea, and I was saying to Mabel — that's Mrs. Doakes—how much I would like to get a blue wool dress in the new fashion when there it was right in front of my eyes in Wortlebaum's window, a darling thing with a collar turned up like this and oblique inserts down the sides right here and the most adorable little . . ."

Rat: "All right, you guys. I guess we've had it, eh? Let's beat it over to the Doakes'. I hear the old lady there has laryngitis and won't be able to talk for a week."

* * *

Man: "Well, well, my little friends. I've been reading that there is a definite kinship between the higher and lower orders—in fact between me and you. So I thought you might like to hear me talk to you and establish friendly relations. After all, we're all part of the same creation, tiny units in the Great Scheme of Things, eh, what? We should all get to know each other better, and even to enlarge our acquaintanceship by getting around more. For instance, now that you have spent most of the evening here on my porch with me, why don't you move along to the Smith's next door, where I'm sure you'd receive a fine, kinshiply welcome. So, uh, any time, uh . . ."

Mosquito: "Look, gang! Watch me! Watch me! See how I can zip in when his lip is flapping like that and give him the works. There — he's talking to us again! A moving target! Try it, you guys . . ."

* * *

Man: "In addressing you on this occasion, I would like to stress the fine spirit of kinship and brotherhood which I am sure pervades this place. I hope you will bear that in mind—my innate feeling of goodwill to all—as I make mention of one or two comments and criticisms, and a few plain facts, which have occurred to me. Now, for instance . . ."

Backbencher: "There he goes again. It's driving me out of the House. Who's for coffee and doughnuts up in the restaurant . . . ?"

Northern Development

It was with great interest we read the article on the Peace River Power project in the Jan. 29 issue of the Times, which is providing a valuable service to its readers by keeping them informed of the great major developments going on in B.C.

One would wish we could hear more of the tremendous growth of the northern section where some of the largest gas and oil wells in the world are now in operation.

All this spectacular growth has, of course, only come about within the last ten years or so when the present Social Credit government came into power. Nothing could be done up there till the PGE railway, after being promised for 30 years, finally was completed into the Peace River area.

It is a credit to the Times that, though editorially opposed to 90 per cent of the present government's progressive program, it nevertheless provides its readers, most of the time, with an objective and unbiased report of provincial affairs.

We look forward to hearing more news of the great developments now materializing in B.C.

Course for Survival

For its editorial of January 29, entitled "Peace Through Research," the Times is to be congratulated. Perhaps its most interesting feature is where we are shown clearly and convincingly how, in the coming Crusade for World Peace, Canada can lead the way, "point a direction."

Isn't that what is indeed most of all in the initial stages of the peace campaign, a direction? So many of us, alert and business-like as we may be in other respects, when asked to help in the work for peace, simply say, "What can I do?" That absolves us of all responsibility in the matter.

Now just as we are without any transformation of character we can personally begin to work for peace by investing in the Canadian Peace Research Institute, run by some of our leading Canadian scientists, headed by Dr. Norman Z. Alcock, who gave up a $15,000 job to work for peace—living for two years on his (their) savings.

Making our investment for peace, we can be assured that quite apart from ultimate achievements of the institute, the very "idea" itself, already begins to work for peace by turning thought in that direction, evoking interest almost everywhere the subject is broached. This has been personally observed by the writer.

As the general interest in world peace grows it should surely tend to create at long last, the articulate public opinion which alone can persuade the "powers that be" to legislate for peace instead of haggling over it as of now. Simply, the problem of peace begins to be solved when enough of us take a direct practical interest in it.

Alcoholism Foundation

May I, through the good offices of of your newspaper, bring forward a little information on our Foundation, in answer to the letter signed "Deeply Concerned" in a recent issue of the Times?

This Foundation has a post office Box No. 882, and telephone EV 5-5032, and is fully operative—though with a limited volunteer staff—to answer any queries on alcoholism, to give talks to groups on this subject, and to council, and help in any way possible, persons in the Greater Victoria area or on Vancouver Island who suffer from or are connected with the "stigmatized disease of alcoholism.

Although we are not yet a part of the Provincial Foundation—whose headquarters are in Vancouver—we are in close touch with its personnel, while we are at the same time affiliated with the National Council of Alcoholism in the United States.

Our members include a doctor, a psychiatrist and a graduate of the Summer School of Alcohol Studies at Yale University; and persons, both male and female, thoroughly experienced and knowledgeable in alcoholism and its many contributing factors.

From Our Files

Feb. 2, 1902 — Canadian Pacific will put into service a new overland train to carry through-traffic exclusively from Vancouver to Montreal in three days.

Feb. 2, 1922 — Vancouver: A public committee organized here to fight drug rings has formulated plans to arouse public sentiment against the habit forming drug evil.

LONDON:

To Ottawa For Talks?

IT has so long been an axiom that the conferences of the Commonwealth Prime Ministers must take place in London that it came as a surprise to learn that there is now a very good chance indeed that the next one will be held in Ottawa. It has been known for some time that Mr. Diefenbaker had tentatively suggested that he might play host on the next occasion; what is new is the favorable wind now blowing from Whitehall.

Hitherto it has been an unshakable conviction of senior civil servants, which Prime Ministers and Commonwealth Secretaries found persuasive, that London was the only practical meeting place.

The Prime Ministers, it was felt, would find it much simpler to make their way here by existing air routes than to any other capital, and it meant that they could take the opportunity to clean up any loose ends of personal or political business in Europe as well. It was also much easier to provide a secretariat.

These arguments have now been outweighed by two others. It is felt that the larger Commonwealth capitals, at least, can handle the secretariat problem and wish to demonstrate it. It would also be good business to make it clear to world opinion that London is not "running" the Commonwealth. Common Market problems may make the next meeting a hasty affair; if timetable problems make Ottawa impractical the Canadians can be pretty sure of being hosts for the 1963 gathering.

Supper for Two

Mr. Macmillan, who stayed at Admiralty House over the weekend, invited Mr. Iain Macleod to share his Sunday supper. The state of the Conservative Party in the House of Commons and outside is the subject which draws the two men together at this moment.

Mr. Macleod, as leader of the House of Commons, should know all about the hopes and fears of Conservative members. As chairman of the party, he should know what the rank and file are thinking. As Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster he should know in particular what the Northwest is registering.

It has not yet lost its reputation as a political barometer, and Mr. Macleod has just returned from a visit to his duchy where he had the benefit of the counsel of Lord Derby at Knowsley. Mr. Macmillan ought to be well briefed after supper.

Lord Snowdon's Job

Another week has gone by and Lord Snowdon's appointment to the Sunday Times color section has attracted comment almost everywhere. The Daily Herald picked up "signals" from the Establishment (not the night club), the Observer made some pained comments which inspired Mr. Roy Thomson to call it a cry-baby.

The Daily Mirror on Friday morning informed those who were against the appointment that they were a bunch of fusspots and hypocrites. In a rather less off-the-cuff statement than his "cry-baby" one Mr. Roy Thomson said that although Lord Snowdon's name would do no harm it was for his professional abilities that he had been chosen.

According to Mr. David Astor, editor of the Observer, Mr. Thomson has missed, or avoided, the whole point of the argument. At any rate there is, at last a real argument raging and it involves many complicated questions of royal status and newspaper jungle warfare.

Thankless Calculation

The number of homeless families in London is rising again. It may have been the combined impact of publicity and seasonal goodwill that caused the total to drop to 594 on December 24. But it is now up to 616 families—2,860 people.

This is not yet so high as at the beginning of November when Londoners were shocked to know that 641 families had asked for shelter, but the trend must be a severe disappointment to all who have tried to help. The LCC is, however, determined to go ahead with its plans to close Newington Lodge and all the other homeless family units in the old institutions from which husbands have had to be excluded.

It is hastening the preparation of short-stay accommodation which, while not of modern housing standards, will at least enable families to be together.

Permanent rehousing remains a matter for the housing department, which is very sensitive to the difficulty of its desperate waiting lists being leap-frogged by the homeless. The arithmetic of misery is a thankless calculation.

Looking Down

The news that the London County Council town planning committee has docked a floor or two from the proposed new hotel in Kensington on the ground that the occupants might peer down on Princess Margaret's home in Kensington Palace Gardens reveals one of those curious situations in which government departments revel.

Last month an office block on the Stag site in Victoria was "topped out," all 28 storeys of it. Since it is just across the way from Buckingham Palace it seems curious that no similar ruling was made.

Postal Packet

Mrs. Gertrude Wood, once chairman of the now defunct London Housewives' Association, tried last week to post herself to the post-master-general because she was fed up with the mail delays.

With a large placard around her neck addressing herself to Mr. Bevins at the House of Commons, she walked into the post office a step away in Parliament Street, only to be told that the post office was no longer accepting human parcels.

Before the war, though, you used to be able to post yourself as an express delivery: the service has been discontinued since 1939, first because of the war, thereafter for lack of demand.

What it boiled down to, in effect, was that you paid 6d a mile for an escort to take you on ordinary public transport wherever you wanted to go—useful, for example, if you didn't know your way from Muswell Hill to Wimbledon.

The only way Mrs. Wood could be posted now would be by dividing herself into 15-lb. parcels, the maximum weight the post office will accept.

ON THE TIMES

For Your Birthday— What?

By ART STOTT

Stott

I WON'T have to bother about it for the next 10 months, but, come November, Pat will ask me again: "What do you want for your birthday?"

No doubt I'll irritate her with my stock reply: "My youth."

She'll look at me with an expression of mild pain, and say, "You're very helpful, aren't you?" Then, when the proper date rolls around, she'll give me a present. Whatever it is, it will be exactly what I wanted, even if I hadn't discerned my want before.

At this stage of life, I'm not very good on birthdays, though, like everyone else, I like to be fussed over.

I'm not very good even at deciding what I'd like for Victoria's 100th birthday, though Victoria and I have been going together for more than half the century.

★ ★ ★

My impression of the program arranged for the centenary is that it's good as far as it goes. What we need, I tell anybody who will listen, is some big capper, something outstanding that will top off the whole show. Most people with whom I've discussed the matter seem to agree in principle. They say: "Yeah, but what?"

To which I reply: "Yeah, what?"

Babe, boy and man, I've taken in most of the conventional Victoria celebrations since shortly after 1910. Most of them I have enjoyed. Some of them which I've had to cover left me a little less than enthusiastic.

What did we do in the earlier days?

Well, we had a bang-up May 24 parade. We had our regattas at the Gorge — complete with picnic lunches, evening fireworks and outdoor concerts.

We've had our street dances, our public dances and our formal balls—"gutter to glitter" so to speak.

We've had our intercity and international ball games—baseball, cricket, rugby, soccer. We've had track meets, swimming meets, tennis tournaments, golf matches and interminable gymkhannas.

We've had pageants. We've had royal visits. We've had Indian sports and ceremonials, loggers' sports and barbecues. We have had circuses and carnivals. We've had school festivities and any amount of theatricals, professional and amateur.

We've had musical rides. We've had folk festivals, local festivities.

We've honored our pioneers, given our salutes to youth. We've grown beards and, in some cases, grown bald-headed.

We've listened to band concerts, to symphonies, to inferior oratory.

I think it's essential that we put on a bang-up party for our old folks, some of whom made it possible for us to have such a good time in the city they helped to create. We make a graceful and sincere gesture to a younger Victoria by what we do for these older townspeople.

I think it proper, also, that we do something that will make the year stand out in the minds of the youngsters.

For the middle generation, let's have functions that will give them pleasure. They are the people, generally speaking, who'll be financing the whole show.

But what shall we have for everybody to make the 100th birthday of Victoria stand out from any other birthday it has had or will have for the next few decades?

What do I want for my own next birthday? I don't know that either.

Esquimalt, Oak Bay Metro Stand

This is the joint policy statement by Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils on amalgamation, metro government and metro services.

The current drive by the mayor of Victoria and the reeve of Saanich to force Oak Bay and Esquimalt into a formal study of metro-government under the provisions of the Municipal Act has in result forced our two councils to meet together to discuss the whole matter. As a result of this discussion we have unanimously agreed upon a joint policy as hereinafter set forth.

★ ★ ★

The background of the current controversy is unfortunate. After much propaganda but no facts or concrete arguments, the mayor of Victoria and the reeve of Saanich made a request at the intermunicipal committee meeting Jan. 23 that Oak Bay and Esquimalt join Victroia and Saanich in requesting the minister of municipalities to set up a formal joint committee under section 766 of the Municipal Act to study metro-government for the Greater Victoria area, and they expressed the hope that if such committee considered total amalgamation more desirable it would so recommend.

The representatives of Oak Bay and Esquimalt, stated that they would not recommend such a course of action to their councils but would recommend agreement to an informal study of the whole problem by the intermunicipal committee. The committee resolved to refer the matter to each council for its opinion, the result to be brought up at the next meeting of the intermunicipal committee.

Instead, Victoria council voted to request a formal study without the courtesy of referring the matter back to the intermunicipal committee, and the reeve of Saanich has stated a similar intention. It is regrettable that Victoria and Saanich should act with such lack of courtesy.

Our reason for not wishing a formal study under the terms of the Municipal Act is obvious. If the majority of such a joint study committee recommended a metro form of government, a referendum would be put to the electors in each municipality.

If the referendum received a majority vote in two-thirds of the municipalities, the minister could impose a metro-government on all of the municipalities.

Thus, if the electors in one municipality voted 100 per cent against metro it could still be imposed on them. Surely it would be a complete breach of duty on the part of our councils to allow such an undemocratic step to be taken.

★ ★ ★

We in the Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils are ready and willing and have always been ready and willing and have, in fact, publicly offered to discuss any reasonable proposal for intermunicipal co-operation around the conference table of the intermunicipal committee, a body already in existence for such discussions.

We welcome the attendance of the press to report such discussions, but we do not consider that the one-sided attitude of Victoria and Saanich will do anything but widen the gap between ourselves and those municipalities and we express the hope that they will accept our offer to sit down and discuss these matters in a reasonable and informal fashion.

In anticipation of such discussions on these matters, we consider it only fair to make known to Victoria and Saanich the following:

(1) That at the present time our councils are firmly and honestly of the opinion that amalgamation is not in the interest of Oak Bay or Esquimalt.

(2) That at the present time we see no merit in metro-government and consider it merely a further burden on the taxpayers.

(3) That we believe that the mayor of Victoria and the reeve of Saanich should place before our councils a brief stating the precise objectives they seek together and with sufficient supporting evidence to reasonably show that their proposal has sufficient merit to warrant serious consideration and the expenditure of public funds in investigation and that it would be of benefit to the public generally in the area concerned.

★ ★ ★

(4) That we will not discuss metro-government under the terms of the Municipal Act for the reasons hereinbefore given, but will, as previously stated, discuss it and amalgamation in the intermunicipal committee without any strings attached. After such a study we will glady put the matter to our own ratepayers in the form of a referendum for our guidance so that we may learn if our voters favor either proposal.

★ ★ ★

(5) That we do not believe that any saving in cost or any increase in efficiency will result from metro police and fire services and believe that the present services which we have are excellent.

(6) That we believe that if Victoria and Saanich desire to amalgamate or form a metro-government they can do so without Oak Bay or Esquimalt, the presence of neither of which is required geograhically or on any other ground.

(7) That we consider that our ratepayers have paid long and heavily for those services which they now enjoy and that there is no equity in asking them to pay for the services desired by others.

We have now made our offer to Victoria and Saanich to deal with these matters in what we consider to be a reasonable and proper fashion. Should our offer be refused we will consider it necessary in carrying out our duties as councillors in our respective municipalities to take whatever action may be necessary to protect the democratic rights of our ratepayers. We sincerely trust that this will not be necessary.

Religion Banned On Postal Stamps

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General William Hamilton says it is government policy to avoid religious subjects on postage stamps to "promote religious tolerance and mutual respect".

This was his reply in the Comomns Wednesday to Paul Martin (L-Essex East) who had asked why representations for a special Christmas stamp were turned down.

A LOFTIER VERSIFIER TAKES FLIER

A new sign—in poetry yet—was proposed to replace Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi's "Sorry for the Inconvenience" Thursday.

The work of Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCF Vancouver East) it would read:

"With courts and cops don't pick a bone,

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States is considering whether to appeal to Canada to shut off trade with Cuba.

State Secretary Dean Rusk says American intelligence has disclosed Fidel Castro is using dollars and foreign exchange to promote subversion in other countries.

"If trade produces foreign exchange reserves which can be used by the present government of Cuba to strengthen subversive activities in other countries, we think we have to take that into account," Rusk told a press conference Thursday.

Asked whether the United States would suggest to the Canadian government that trade between Canada and Cuba be stopped, Rusk replied:

"That is something we will take up after his meeting. I don't want to comment on that today."

Rusk, who spoke with reporters a few hours after returning from the Punta del Este meeting on the controversial Cuban issue, was asked to elaborate on the Canadian problem.

"To what extent would all the resolutions accepted at the Punta del Este conference be effective without the active participation by Canada?"

'WE DO HOPE'

"Well, of course, we do hope," replied Rusk, "that other countries, having seen the clear expressions of policy and attitude to the Organization of American States, would consider—and I am not referring to any single country—would consider whether they might not align their policies with the policies of the inter-American system."

"I think we will find that a number of countries will be looking at it from that point of view."

Canada is not a member of the Organization of America States and does not go along with the U.S. strict anti-Castro policy. The U.S. has imposed an embargo on all exports to Cuba with the exception of food and medicine. Most imports also have stopped with the exception of some items, including tobacco.

Since the start of 1960 U.S. trade with Cuba has fallen while Canada's has soared by about 50 per cent.

Employment Record Upheld by Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr struck back Thursday night at critics of the government's unemployment record in a Commons performance smacking of the election campaign trail.

Mr. Starr said December's unemployment was the lowest in five years and a tribute to Progressive Conservative "boldness and imagination".

The Commons opposition would have had cause to "call havoc around the country" if the situation had remained as bad as the 1954-55 period under the Liberals, he said. But that had not been the case.

The winter works job incentive program had been introduced and broadened, seasonal unemployment insurance benefits extended, some 170 vocational training schools authorized and a great many people had been put to work in the last four years of Conservative government.

Chiefs of Police Across Canada To Converge Here

About 200 police chiefs from all over Canada will visit Victoria later this year for the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police.

The convention will be held in the Empress Hotel Sept. 4-7 and will deal with "methods and problems," city police Chief John Blackstock said today.

In addition to heads of municipal forces, the visitors will include representatives of the RCMP and observers from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hotel Gutted By Fire

BRANTFORD (CP)—Only the walls of the Brant Hotel in downtown Brantford were left standing from a fire which swept through the building Wednesday night. Herman Laufer, president and general manager of the 80-room hotel, said damage "will be well over $1,000,000."

Mongolia Takes Sides

GANG BUSTING PLAN TO GET FULTON STUDY

MONTREAL (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Thursday night a study will be made leading to a campaign against organized or syndicated crime.

He did not elaborate, making only a passing reference to the study in a speech to the Montreal Junior Board of Trade.

JFK Deals Unfair Blow at Canada

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Bell

The alleged shock felt by President Kennedy over his discovery that the U.S. government had on hand a $7.7 billion stockpile of strategic metals — principally aluminum and nickel — appears to be open to some skepticism.

Since the amounts of metals held in the U.S. stockpile have never been any secret, the president's belated "discovery" of the situation and his irresponsible press conference disclosures, which had quite severe repercussions in the market, are difficult to explain.

However, that Mr. Kennedy was politically motivated was made quite clear by his pointed reference to the fact that the stockpiles were built up during the Eisenhower regime. He blandly ignored the fact that they were started, and in the case of nickel particularly, had their greatest period of growth in the preceding Truman Democratic administration.

Also ignored was the fact that the aluminum stockpiling was a direct result of government-ordered expansion of the U.S. aluminum industry during the Korean War period

The president's dark hints that there would be investigations of the situation and the possibility that unwarranted profits might have been made also smacks of irresponsibility. Sure to be revived is the belief that the present administration in the U.S. is strongly inclined to be "anti-business."

The president's singling out of nickel was a particularly unfair blow at Canada which originally supplied the bulk of that metal for the U.S. stockpile.

The fact is that while International Nickel Co. between 1946 and 1957 sold 120 million pounds of nickel to the U.S. government, it bought back 125 million pounds between 1959 and 1961 and resold it in commercial channels without any significant market disruption.

Although Mr. Kennedy is reported to have given assurance that he would take no stockpile disposal action which would disrupt commodity prices, the very fact that he has served notice, in effect, that the stockpile overhangs the market is sure to prove disruptive.

Western Canada Breweries Ltd., a subsidiary of Canadian Breweries Ltd. operating in the four western provinces had a net profit of $2,098,835 for the year ended Oct. 31.

This was an increase of $98,546 over the previous year and resulted, according to chairman Ian R. Dowie, from better sales volume and improved efficiency.

Royalite Oil Company last year recorded its highest net profit, $2,100,000, in its 40 years of operation according to president Charles Hay of Calgary.

The gain to more than double last year's net was attributed to substantial increases in oil and natural gas sales.

Royalite's crude oil production during 1961 was up 21 per cent at 1,475,727 barrels and gas production increased 17 per cent at 13.5 billion cubic feet.

FARM INCOME SETS RECORD

OTTAWA (CP) — The cash income of Canadian farmers reached an all-time high of $2,928,900,000 last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

A DBS survey revealed that farmers received more money for all major crops except potatoes, oats and barley.

Their total cash income from farming, excluding government supplementary payments, was 5.3 per cent higher than the 1960 figure of $2,781,500,000. The previous record of $2,859,100,000 was established in 1952.

Seattle-Alaska Car-Barge Run Set

SEATTLE (AP) — The four transcontinental railroads serving Puget Sound announced a Seattle-Alaska car-barge service Thursday which spokesmen said would surpass the projected Canadian service from Prince Rupert, B.C.

J. D. Paul, secretary-manager of the Seattle Traffic Association, said the plan was announced by operating vice-presidents of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Milwaukee and Union Pacific lines.

Details are to be settled by a meeting between officials of the four railroads. The railroads already are in touch with water carriers, they told the traffic association.

They expect to offer "a workable plan, not only competitive with that announced by the Canadian National but offering additional advantages," Paul said. The railroads' promise is for a "rail-barge-rail" service.

This means, Paul said, that shipments destined for Alaska will arrive in Seattle by rail. The cars will be carried on barges to Alaska, transferred to the government-owned Alaska railroad and hauled to rail route points.

SIDELINE SLANTS BY

Doug Peden

Our Pony Leaguers and Little Leaguers probably never heard of Bob Steele; but you can bet a spanking new first-baseman's mitt that they would like to follow in his footsteps of long ago.

BOB STEELE

Only a few athletic memories in this town go back to the summer of 1909 when a 15-year-old southpaw pitcher was signed by the Victoria club operating in the Northwest League. A student at the old Boys' Central School for a few years after his family moved here from Ontario, Steele went on to become the first Canadian and the only Victorian to carve out a major league baseball career.

He played with Moose Jaw when 17 and the next season was purchased by St. Louis Cardinals. Later he toiled under the legendary John McGraw with the New York Giants and continued on to play with Pittsburgh Pirates.

Before he hung up his spikes after 20 years in pro baseball and switched to a thriving business career in Burlington, Wis., Steele had played with or against a bevy of the greatest stars, including Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner, Rogers Hornsby, Jim Thorpe and Walter Johnson.

It was a successful life and a good one for the ex-Victoria athlete until it came to an end Wednesday. Nearing his 68th birthday, Steele, who had retired from business two years ago, died from a heart attack while vacationing at Oakalla, Florida.

His sister, Mrs. Wynette Minty, talked proudly of Bob Steele Thursday in her Hulford Street home. There was mention of another brother, Weyburn, in Victoria; other brothers in Oregon, Wisconsin and New Jersey, and their mother, almost 97, still living in Victoria.

But mostly the talk was of Bob's career, which he summarized in an interesting feature story printed 18 months ago in a Burlington paper. Here are a few of Steele's recollections that were quoted in the article:

* * *

"While with Victoria my roommate and I pitched consecutive no-hitters," Steele said. "I have never heard of roommates doing the same thing since. I wasn't scheduled to pitch and I had gone out with my roommate to celebrate his no-hitter and I guess we broke a few training rules. So the manager put me in to pitch the next day thinking that I would get my ears pinned back because I only had one day of rest. However, I pitched a no-hitter."

Steele joined the Cardinals about the same time as Hornsby, rated the game's greatest right-hand hitter. "Hornsby," Steele recalled, "never went to movies so he wouldn't hurt his eyes. He didn't smoke, drink or chew tobacco. He didn't even drink coffee."

Honus Just Couldn't Keep Creases

Steele was traded to Pittsburgh the last season of Honus Wagner's career. "I roomed with Honus on his last road trip," he recounted. "He always had chewing tobacco in his mouth, even when he slept. He didn't have his trousers pressed because he was bow-legged and would knock the creases out anyway.

"Wagner's hands were as big as hams and he was very powerful. He would hit doubles, triples and homers with one hand sometimes."

Steele, who also roomed with Jim Thorpe, the storied all-around athlete, while with the Giants, recalled beating Ruth in 1918 while Babe was still a pitcher.

That season the regular schedule wasn't completed because of World War I, and many major leaguers worked in steel yards where they were able to continue playing baseball.

"I pitched against Ruth and beat him 1-0. I hit a home run to win the game."

One of Steele's fondest memories was pinch-hitting for Wagner while with Pittsburgh. "Honus had broken his hand," he related, "so I was sent in to pinch-hit. I was the only man who ever pinch-hit for Honus."

Bonus Weekend For Rugby Fans

In addition to regularly-scheduled senior and junior division games, a select team from Vancouver will play an exhibition against Victoria's Crimson Tide and two other mainland sides will be in action Saturday.

The Vancouver team has been selected by Bob Spray, chairman of the B.C. Tours Committee. Among the visitors will be John Newton, Ted Hunt, Buzz Moore, Gerry McGavin, Doug Muir and Glen Stover. All were with the B.C. team which toured Japan. The game is at Macdonald Park, Sunday, 2.30 p.m.

The filet dish for rugger folk takes place Feb. 10. Then the Tide will met either UBC or Vancouver Reps. If UBC trims Reps in Vancouver Saturday, the Feb. 10 clash will be a one-game affair for the McKechnie Cup.

Should Reps win over UBC, the Tide-Reps game of Feb. 10 will be the first of a two-game total-points series for the cup. The second game would be played in Vancouver.

MATCH AT NADEN

Two other exhibition games are scheduled for the weekend.

NTS and Rowing Club of Vancouver meet Saturday at 3 p.m. at Naden grounds. In a preliminary intermediate match, NTS meets South Burnaby at 1.30.

Regular Victoria Rugby Union first division games, starting at 2.30 bring together James Bay and VC Vikings at Macdonald Park; Oak Bay Reds and VC Norsemen at Gordon Head, and Oak Bay Wanderers Whites and Royal Roads at Windsor.

Junior division matches, commencing at 1 p.m. pit Sea Cadets and Princess Pats at Macdonald Park; Canadian Scottish and Air Cadets, Carnarvon Park and Oak Bay Wanderers and Mt. Newton, Windsor Park.

No new snow has fallen but skiers report the more than four feet of base snow continues to offer good skiing.

Second Searing Round Keeps Leonard Ahead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (CP) — Veteran Stan Leonard of Vancouver clung to a slim lead as he swung into the third round of the marathon $50,000 Palm Springs Open golf tournament today but dangerously close was Arnold Palmer, apparently back to his brilliant form.

Leonard forged ahead Thursday with his second great round and had an 11-under-par 132 for 36 holes. His closest challengers in the 90-hole event were Jack Cupit and Gardner Dickinson, two strokes back. Another stroke behind at 135 was Neil Coles of England.

Palmer, who has been having trouble getting into the swing of the tournament grind this year, was four strokes off the pace with Mike Souchak.

GRABS THE LEAD

Leonard, 47 today, tied after the first round with young Red Baxter Jr., grabbed the lead Thursday with a five-under-par 67 at Indian Wells. The eight-time winner of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association crown carved six strokes off par for a 65 at Thunderbird in the opening round Wednesday.

Baxter blew to a 74 after his opening 65 and faded into the field with 139.

Cupit carded a seven-under-par 65 at Indian Wells Thursday, while Dickinson had a five-under 66 at Thunderbird. Coles had a 67 at Tamarisk. Souchak came up with a 68 at Thunderbird.

FORD FALLS BACK

Palmer, who opened with a 69 at Tamarisk, fashioned a 67 at Eldorado for his 136 total. He was set to play less-demanding Thunderbird today. The golfers play a different course each day.

Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg and Al Johnston of Montreal had 71s Thursday for 140 totals. Al Balding of Toronto had a 69 for 142 and George Knudson of Toronto ballooned to a 76 for 149. Jerry Magee of Toronto withdrew with a sore hand.

Doug Ford, an early threat with an opening 66, fell back with a 74. Gary Player of South Africa shot a fat 74 for 143.

No Bids, Demands For New Puck Site

MONTREAL (UPI) — Bob Lebel, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said today he had not received any demand or offers to move the world amateur championships from Colorado Springs to Czechoslovakia as had been reported.

Lebel stated he sent telegrams to all members of the federation. He said the wires pointed out that the North American division is convinced that the United States is not responsible for the current situation concerning the Communist East German hockey team.

Because the blame is not with the United States, Lebel said, the championships will be held in Colorado as scheduled, beginning March 8.

The East Germans' application for travel documents has been rejected by the three-nation allied travel office in West Berlin. The travel office is made up of representatives of the United States, Britain and France.

AGAINST VIKINGS

Garner Has Hunch Cards Are Stacked

Skagit Valley Cardinals from Mt. Vernon offer Victoria College its next basketball opposition, and Vikings' coach Bill Garner is inclined to believe the invaders "are tough."

The Washington team and Vikings guard the baskets in a two-game series at the Gordon Head campus gym tonight and Saturday. Game time both nights is 8.

"They beat us twice last year," said Garner, "and I understand they've strengthened considerably."

Such as Marshal Johnston, Ron Queen and "a six-foot-six centre" who's name escaped Garner on Friday are key men in Skagit's attack.

Johnston, 6-3 and fresh out of the service, played forward with the 1959 team that represented the U.S. in the Pan-American games. Queen, the team captain, is the Cards' fast-break leader.

ANOTHER DISCRIMINATION INCIDENT ..... BRINGS WIDE SCORN

Chinese Feel South Africa Bias

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP)—Another case of racial discrimination in South African sport has hit the headlines. Today it affected the Chinese.

The management committee of the Border Areas Softball Association said it refused to accept six members of its women's team chosen for the South African championships because they are Chinese. Michael Bennie, chairman of the association, called it "a bitter blow and high-handed action."

Still raging is the issue of Pretoria city council's ban on permitting a Japanese champion swimming team to use that capital city's pool in its forthcoming tour of South Africa.

The government announced Thursday that South Africa's leading Indian golfer Sewsunker Papwa Sewgolum has been refused permission to play in the Natal Open at Durban next week because "it is not government policy to encourage mixed sports."

Neville Grace, president of South African Swimming Union, said Pretoria's ban on the Japanese swimming team has raised questions about this country's participation in the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

He said the "type of attitude implicit in the Pretoria order may result in facilities being withdrawn from South Africans overseas." He said the ban, imposed last week, is "unprecedented in South African sporting history."

In Tokyo, the managing director of the Japanese Swimming Association, Hiroship Negami, said the Japanese team will not visit Pretoria.

Hull Hawks' Hero With 4 Big Goals

Habs Fatten Up on Leafs; Rangers Win

Hats off to Bobby Hull, who not only performed the "hat trick" but even went one better by scoring four goals in two periods for the suddenly red hot Chicago Black Hawks.

Hull, the National Hockey League's leading goal scorer, paced the Hawks to a 7-4 victory over Detroit Red Wings Thursday night by firing in his 27th and 28th goals of the season in the second period and his 29th and 30th in the final stanza.

The spectacular performance by the 23-year-old "blond bomber" helped the Hawks to their fifth victory in the last six games and strengthened their hold on third place.

Montreal increased its league lead by defeating Toronto, 5-2, and New York Rangers made it two in a row after losing 10 straight by defeating Boston Bruins 5-3.

WHAT COLLAPSE?

Canadiens' victory must have been disquieting for the pen prophets, some from Montreal, who expected the Montreal dynasty would collapse this season.

The pundits foresaw a dire future for Montreal with some of the Habs slipping over the 30-year mark and obvious deficiencies on defence and left wing.

But take a look at the standings. Canadiens extended their bulge at the top to six points by bombing Toronto before a season-high crowd of 15,266.

Unbeaten in 11 starts, the Habs now have 67 points to Toronto's 61.

BOWER CUT

Near the midway point of the final period, Toronto goalie Johnny Bower was hurt in a scramble and took six stitches for a cut near the left ear. The game was delayed about 10 minutes.

Four regulars on the injured list hurt Toronto's cause. Centre Red Kelly and defenceman Bob Baun dressed but Kelly made only one appearance late in the game and Baun didn't play. Forwards Dick Duff and Eddie Shack, both sidelined with leg injuries, didn't make the trip.

Before a crowd of 10,236 in Detroit, goalie Glenn Hall stopped 51 shots while Terry Sawchuk handled only 27 in the Detroit nets. The man he couldn't handle was Hull.

WINGS FALL BEHIND

The Detroit marksmen were defenceman Marcel Pronovost and forwards Len Lunde, Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman.

The outcome gave the Hawks 51 points and the Red Wings with 41 fell a point behind the Rangers.

ROYALS VISIT SATURDAY

United Backs 'Met Before'

When one rubs shoulders with another person, or persons, for the better part of 15 years, it must be conceded that "they're acquainted."

GEORGE WRIGHT
. . . conditioning tells

The fact that George Wright, Len Anderson and Bobby Mars "have met before" is just another reason Victoria United's backs are marking up an outstanding record in the Pacific Coast Soccer League.

Right fullback Anderson, right half Wright and Mars, the centre half, have played together from the time, as 12-year-olds, they turned out to brighten the fortunes of the Tillicum team in minor soccer's fourth division.

This home-grown talent has already earned a reputation as being part of the strongest defence in the seven-team league.

This is also some of the talent to be viewed Saturday afternoon at Royal Athletic Park when the Uniteds take on defending champion New Westminster Royals.

A shred of doubt shadows Mars' appearance. The rugged back is still bothered by a back injury suffered two weeks ago.

IN SHAPE NOW

Wright, 27-year-old producer with the local television station, is enjoying one of his best years. The reason, he says, is because of the fact he is in better shape than he has been in some time.

"That's one of the big differences between District League soccer and the Coast League," he added. "You can get by on ability alone in the District League. You can't in the Coast League."

SHORT HEADERS: Jack Spry's Royals still haven't beaten United this season . . . Fullback Buster Kairns (back injury) and half Jim Cowie (knee) are Westminster's doubtful starters . . . The doors are wide open Saturday for all students of Mt. View High . . . Fans wishing to help organize a United Booster Club are reminded of tonight's meeting (8 p.m.) at the Naval Vets Hall on Broad Street . . .

Father David Knows About Puck Mileage

It's a long way from Toronto to Vancouver.

The mileage between the calibre of the best in junior "A" hockey and intercollegiate hockey may not be quite as great.

The best man around to explain the difference is Father David Bauer. Brother of former National Hockey League star Bobby Bauer, Father David last year steered Toronto St. Michael's to the Canadian junior championship.

This year he's piloting University of British Columbia Thunderbirds.

Father Bauer and his Thunderbirds visit here Saturday when UBC plays Victoria College Vikings in an exhibition at the Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Tonight, Vikings meet Army in a regularly-scheduled Esquimalt League encounter at the same rink. Navy plays Pontiac Chiefs in the second half of tonight's doubleheader, which starts at 7.45.

Visiting Matmen Test City Squad

A year richer in experience, YMCA wrestlers Saturday put their lessons on display in a 12-bout card at the Y against Vancouver Central Y. First bout is at 2 p.m.

Since beginning operations last year, Victoria Y has developed a class of 40 boys from nine to 14 years of age.

Coaches Iran Lefebvre, Art Burgess and Rick Dudman have been doing the tutoring at after-school classes Mondays and Fridays as well as on Saturday afternoons.

PHYLLIS FIRES 150-YARD ACE

Mrs. Phyllis Mearns picked up a five-iron, addressed the ball, swung and "whoopee!" —hole in one.

This is the way it was Thursday on the 150-yard second hole at Victoria Golf Club. The dodo was the first by a lady member there for more than a year.

She was playing in a par competition with Miss Joan Fortt.

By ERNIE FEDORUK

The Victoria District Golf Committee has bowed to club golfers who grudgingly insist "too many competitions" are taking too big of a bite out of choice weekend dates during the summer months.

Representatives of the five Victoria-area courses Thursday night dispensed with one tournament and combined a second with the City Amateur championship in moves designed to ease the burden on courses.

Action was taken at the committee's annual general meeting at Gorge Vale.

Suspended for this year is the Zone One championship, an event termed "superfluous" and poorly attended in recent years. Less than two dozen competed in the tourney last year, which was won by Royal Colwood's Laurie Kerr.

The Matson Trophy event, originally designated to decide the Island handicap title, has been boosted from an 18 to a 54-hole affair. Instead of "going on its own," as in the past, however, the Matson event will be played in conjunction with the City Amateur.

The trophy will be awarded to the low net scorer in the 54-hole city meet.

Scheduling of events, election of officers and the promotion of some "fringe benefits" that give golf a chance to help celebrate Victoria's 100th birthday also was included in Thursday's business.

Among the Centennial year "extras" is the possibility that the prize list for the B.C. Amateur, to be played at Victoria Golf Club on July 2-7, may be doubled. Prizes given out at last year's provincial meet were valued at about $400. This year it is hoped to boost the figure to $800 in an effort to attract more than the usual number of visiting golfers to Victoria.

Centennial Prize for City Champ

The City Amateur champion will also be offered a Centennial special. Passed was a proposal to give the city champion "a suitably engraved prize in making special mention of Victoria's golf champion in the city's 100th year."

The City Amateur will be played at Colwod with 36 holes on June 3 and the final 18 holes on June 10.

The summer golf season opens, as always, with the qualifying round of the Times-sponsored Vancouver Island Open. The Island's premier event starts with the qualifying round at Uplands on March 25.

Succeeding rounds will be played at Victoria Club, April 1; Colwood, April 8; Gorge Vale, April 15; Uplands (for the semifinals), April 22, and back to Victoria Club for the 36-hole final on April 29.

In addition to the men's Amateur, two other provincial tournaments will be staged in Victoria this year, both for the first time. They are the B.C. lefthanders (Colwood, Sept. 8-9) and the B.C. parent-and-child tournament (Gorge Vale, May 27).

The Inter-Club League will start May 23 and end June 27. Matches will again be played Wednesday afternoons.

Harry Young of Victoria Club, recently named a governor of the Royal Canadain Golf Association, was returned as the committee's president for his fifth term.

Sid Holland of Gorge Vale was named vice-president and Leo Derman was returned as secretary-treasurer.

Penalty Shot Chills 'Frisco

LOS ANGELES (CP) — A costly penalty shot Thursday night threw a damper on the Western Hockey League playoff hopes of San Francisco Seals.

Rightwinger Jim Powers turned the penalty shot into the winning goal with just two and a half minutes remaining as Los Angeles Blades edged the Seals 4-3.

The loss dropped last-place San Francisco six points behind the Blades, who hold the Southern Division's third and final playoff position.

A crowd of 12,274 at Los Angeles—second largest of the season—saw referee Jerry Olinski call the penalty shot against San Francisco forward Len Haley, who tripped Powers as he broke into the clear. Powers went to the blue line, picked up a full head of steam, and beat goalie Bev Bentley.

Other Los Angeles scorers were Terry Slater with two and defenceman Ralph Keller. Nick Micoski, Haley and Bob Solinger replied for the losers.

SOLUTION MONDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the Wold Book Encyclopedia to Faye Phillips, age 12, of Pawnee, Okla., for her question:

How Do They Measure Humidity?

The relative humidity is often included in the day's weather report. If we are in the know, we do not expect refreshing showers when the relative humidity is 10, 20 or even 50 per cent. We know that the gaseous water vapor in the air begins to gel into drops of liquid when the relative humidity soars toward 100 per cent.

Absolute humidity tells the vapor content of the air, which may be six grains of vapor gas in every cubic foot of air. But this does not help us predict the weather. For warm air can hold more vapor than cool air, and the vapor does not gel into liquid until the air is saturated to its dew point. We get this information from relative humidity which is based on the vapor content and the temperature of the air. When the day's air reaches a relative humidity of 100 per cent, some of the vapor may turn to rain.

It is a complicated job to find the relative humidity of the air, but the meteorologist has several instruments to help him. He finds the temperature and the vapor content of the air and then consults charts which tell exactly how much more vapor this air can hold.

One instrument is called the hydrometer. Water is stirred vigorously in a shiny metal cup until tne metal and the water reach the same temperature as the surrounding air. Then ice is added and stirred with the water and soon vapor from the air condenses in misty drops on the outside of the cup. The temperature of the air is compared with the cooler temperature of the cup where it is chilled to dew point. This ratio shows relative humidity.

Passes Air Through Chemicals

With another instrument, the meteorologist can pass a certain volume of air through chemicals which absorb moisture. The vapor extracted from the air adds weight to the chemicals and this figure, along with temperature, is computed to give the relative humidity of the air.

Another such instrument is the psychrometer, which is basically a pair of whirling thermometers. The bulb of one is wrapped in a wet cloth which gives a cooler temperature as its moisture evaporates. Evaporation is faster when the air is dry, which means that the temperature of the wet bulb can give the vapor content. Relative humidity is computed by comparing this with the dry bulb figures which give air temperature.

These or other instruments can be used to find the amount of vapor in air at a certain temperature. The weatherman's charts for computing the ratio of relative humidity from these figures are very precise. Air at 61 degrees Fahrenheit which contains 4.85 grams of vapor per cubic meter has a relative humidity of 36 per cent. If 3.42 grams of vapor are added to the volume without changing the temperature, humidity reaches 53 per cent. This same air reaches 100 per cent humidity when it contains 13.65 grams of vapor per cubic meter.

½ AWAKE Nights ½ ASLEEP Days..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed, then are dull and listless during the day. When kidneys slow down wastes and excess acids stay in the system. Disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache often follow. If you don't rest well at night—if you feel dull in the daytime—use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Then you feel better—rest better—work better. You can depend on Dodd's Kidney Pills. 21

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI BEACH — Quite a little controversy's blowing up here over my proposal to name a Show Business Hall of Fame and particularly my question: Is Sammy Davis really greater than Al Jolson was?

I was just down here for the opening of the Doral Country Club — the one with the gal caddies — when George Marshall, the Washington football magnate, jumped me about Sammy versus Jolson.

"Groucho says Sammy is greater," I stammered.

"Groucho WHO?" thundered Marshall. "I wonder if he ever heard about the time Al Jolson followed Enrico Caruso at a benefit during the Second World War? First, nobody could follow Caruso but Jolson. Caruso had just sung 'Over There.' Everybody was limp. Jolson came out and said 'Now you're gonna hear some singin' as IS singing'."

What about Will Rogers—Bert Williams—Eddie Leonard? Is Hope as great as Will Rogers was? It's well known that stars get greater the longer they've been dead. Is Marilyn Monroe as sexy as Jean Harlow, are Rhonda Fleming and Joan Collins as beautiful as Lillian Russell, is Jackie Gleason as big a sport as Diamond Jim Brady was? Nobody really knows—but it's fun to argue—so let's!

BARGAINING RIGHTS TO BE GRANTED

Strike Ban on Hydro Labor

Employees of the new provincial hydro-electric authority will be given full collective bargaining rights, but they will not have the right to strike, Labor Minister Peterson said Thursday.

Instead of the strike and lockout provisions accorded other trade unions and private employers, the Hydro Authority and its employees will be subject to binding arbitration procedures in case of disputes.

Mr. Peterson made the statements in the legislature as he outlined the government's approach to the trade union problem involved in its takeover of the B.C. Electric Company and the subsequent merging of the B.C. Electric with the B.C. Power Commission.

Mr. Peterson said the government proposes to give employees of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, under which the two present public power agencies are to be merged, the right to join a trade union of their choice and the right to have trade unions certified to represent them in collective bargaining.

It proposed to require the Hydro Authority to recognize and bargain with the employees' representatives and to enter into collective agreements with the trade unions involved.

However, the employees' right to strike and picket and the public employer's right to lock out employees will be restricted.

PROTECT PUBLIC

"The government proposes to protect the public interest by establishing effective controls of any strike or lockout activity with respect to this new Crown agency," said Mr. Peterson.

Prohibiting strike and lockout activity imposed responsibility to establish an alternate method of resolving the disputes.

Therefore, the government proposes, Mr. Peterson said, that the alternate machinery to be adopted is that the report of a conciliation board, constituted under the Labor Relations Act, will be final and binding in every respect upon both parties.

"The employees of this utility are essential to the proper functioning of the Crown agency in supplying uninterrupted electric service to communities—a service which is so necessary to the public health, safety and welfare."

In Vancouver, the Electrical Workers' Union and the Office Employees' Union welcomed the government's announcemtn as a constructive answer to a "difficult situation following the BCE takeover."

Angus McDonald, president of the Electrical Workers' Union, and Bill Swanson, office employees' business agent, praised both Mr. Peterson and the deputy labor minister, William Sands, for the "fair and objective approach they have taken to a complex problem."

6 Fined $30 In Halloween Disturbance

Six youths, members of a group who threw firecrackers and gravel at Saanich police officers during a disturbance last Halloween, each were fined $30 in Saanich police court Thursday.

Barry M. Bissenden, 4445 Tyndall; Albert Barry Smith, 4450 Tyndall; William Albert Smith, 4437 Tyndall; William Perry Jasper, HMCS New Glasgow; William Bensley Armstrong, 4402 Torquay, and Norman Walter Smith, 4417 Tyndall, all pleaded guilty to being members of an unlawful assembly at 4437 Tyndall, Oct. 31.

The youths did not appear but were represented by R. B. Coupar.

Saanich juvenile officer Harry Adams said he and a uniformed constable went to 4437 Tyndall following a number of complaints. They found a group of about 30 juveniles, youths and young adults, throwing fireworks at passing cars.

He said fireworks were thrown at the police car as it went up the driveway and the crowd was laughing and shouting.

He and the constable left and returned 10 minutes later to find the entrance to the driveway had been barricaded.

When the police car did manage to get in fireworks were still being thrown. One exploded inside the car and gravel hit the car and himself, Mr. Adams said.

They left a second time and entered the property via an alternative driveway, coming up behind the group. This time, three trucks were driven behind the police car, blocking its exit.

Prosecutor Kenneth Murphy told Magistrate William Ostler a similar incident had occurred the previous year.

On the youth's behalf Mr. Couper said it was customary for young people to take a good deal of licence during Halloween.

"It was a frolic that got out of hand but there was no malice involved," he said.

Magistrate Ostler said it was true that young people seem to regard Halloween rather as a time of licence but there was no reason why they should.

After imposing the fines he urged Mr. Coupar suggest to parents they be paid by the youths themselves.

"And if they can't pay the fines they should be put to hard labor—there are plenty of jobs around the house," he said.

DIEF DENIES DOUBTS ON U.S. TARIFF CUTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker denied Thursday that he had said he would be surprised if President Kennedy's tariff-cutting program with the Common Market received U.S. congressional approval.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal-Laurier) said in the Commons this statement had been attributed to the prime minister by president Alf Gleave of the National Farmers' Union. A delegation from the farm group led by Mr. Gleave met the prime minister here Wednesday.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that all he could say was that this and some other statements made after the closed meeting "were apparently ex parte statements made by someone else in consequence of discussions that took place."

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

DesBrisay Conducts Probe

Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay has been appointed to conduct a royal commission inquiry into all aspects of workmen's compensation in B.C.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, who made the announcement during the throne speech debate in the legislature Thursday, said the commission would tackle these questions:

- Amount of compensation paid;
- Effect on industry of bearing the costs;
- Appeal procedures;
- Silicosis;
- Relationship of the medical profession to the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Mr. Peterson said he was sure the commission would make "a thorough review of all matters affecting workmen's compensation."

He said that virtually every trade union in the province has asked for the inquiry. Some of the complaints "were wild and extravagant" but others were definitely valid.

Since workmen's compensation has been in effect in B.C. (it started in 1917) more than $400,000,000 has been paid in injury claims, he said. There has been an improvement in benefits, which have gone from $20 a month for widows in 1917 to $90 a month today.

But at the same time living costs have also increased considerably, Mr. Peterson added.

"There is undoubtedly much room for improvement," he said.

First Charge Dismissed Against Ex-City Dealer

Crown Failed To Prove Fraudulence

First of nine theft "by failing to account for" charges against former city real estate dealer Milton Harter King was dismissed in city police court today.

In a lengthy summation Magistrate William Ostler told the court the Crown had failed to prove King had made fraudulent use of $3,000 given him in trust by Patterson-Hunt Building Ltd.

Almost immediately after the decision came down, plans were being made for trial on the second of nine charges.

Defence lawyer David Hummell based his case on three points, and Magistrate Ostler dealt with each in his concluding remarks. He had previously changed the trial to a preliminary hearing.

WORD OMITTED

First, Mr. Hummel had contended the charge against his client was improperly framed, as it ommitted the word "convert."

"Despite the able submission on the part of the defence, I do not find this a good objection," said the magistrate.

He then pointed out precedents backing his refusal to accept the contention.

Secondly, Mr. Hummel put forth the argument that conversion of funds must be proven, even if the word convert is not framed within the charge. Using the same precedents Mr. Ostler refused to accept the defence's point.

MUST BE PROVEN

"The third, and last, is Mr. Hummell's most important point," said the magistrate. "This was the argument that the Crown has not shown Mr. King made 'fraudulent' use of the funds at his disposal."

Under the statute this must be proven, Mr. Ostler pointed out, and it had not been on this charge.

"The Crown did prove Mr. King had received money from Patterson-Hunt Building Limited, and it also was shown some was honestly paid, and some was not paid at all. The onus was then on the Crown to prove the failure of payments was fraudulent. This was not done."

"Even though the accounting figures might suggest it," said Mr. Ostler, "there is nothing to show that the accused used any of the money improperly."

On Wednesday a day will be set for trial on the next charge, theft by failing to account for $403, the property of Thomas and Rebecca Bennett.

Mr. Hummell elected trial by magistrate on the charge and said his client will plead not guilty.

TRAFFIC STUDY BACKED DESPITE $76,000 COST

Mayor R. B. Wilson today said he supports an over-all traffic study for Greater Victoria even though it costs $76,000.

Mayor Wilson said he had three reasons for supporting the unanimous recommendation of engineers from the four municipalities.

"First, this type of detailed study is a highly-specialized thing. Our civic engineers have neither the time nor the staff to carry out the study and still do their regular work.

"A considerable part of the study requires use of the big computing machines and none of our municipalities has one."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Foot-Sore Mothers Get $36,000

Marching mothers in the Greater Victoria area Thursday night took in a record $36,000 for the B.C. Poliomyelitis and Rehabilitation Foundation.

Last year in the same area the one-hour porchlight blitz brought in $33,600.

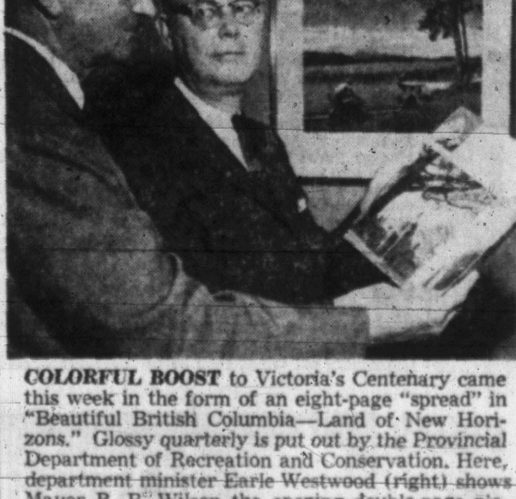
Returns from the outlying districts which are canvassed during the daytime, from mail donations, and stationary collection cans will not be known until Wednesday. But officials of the 1962 campaign are confident it will surpass last year's final total of $38,000.

Chairman of the 1962 appeal, Mrs. Kenneth Murphy, said that the enthusiasm of the mothers was the most heartening feature in the campaign.

Mrs. Murphy also praised the community spirit shown by Edward Chamberlin and the staff of the Canadian Imperial Bank who took in the evening's returns.

"Some of the returns didn't come in until nearly 10. Perhaps the mothers were being a little too enthusiastic," she said.

About 2,200 mothers took part in the march in an effort to contribute toward the $300,000 provincial goal.



COLORFUL BOOST to Victoria's Centenary came this week in the form of an eight-page "spread" in "Beautiful British Columbia—Land of New Horizons." Glossy quarterly is put out by the Provincial Department of Recreation and Conservation. Here, department minister Earle Westwood (right) shows Mayor R. B. Wilson the opening double-page picture of the Inner Harbor and Legislative Buildings. A Christmas-time subscription drive by the department ran circulation from about 6,000 in October last year to a current 16,000. The spring issue, in which Victoria is featured, will go on sale Tuesday. (Photo by Irving Strickland.)

What Do They Fear About Merger Study?

Assessment Threatens Small Yard

100% Increase In Levy on Land

A small shipyard manager today told Victoria court of revision he may have to consider closing the plant because of more than a 100 per cent increase in land assessment.

However, the court sustained the land assessment boost from $19,440 last year to $42,010 after Mr. Veres conceded that it substantially reflected 50 per cent of current market value.

"But we certainly couldn't afford to pay higher taxes in that proportion," he argued.

The company provides Victoria with a valuable service because it caters to a large fleet of fishing vessels, he said.

NO BENEFIT

"It will not benefit anyone if we are forced to close our operation because of taxes."

Court chairman Coun. Joseph Casey said the tribunal only had jurisdiction over assessment evaluation and could not consider any plea of inability to pay taxes.

He pointed out that even though the assessment is up, it was theoretically possible for the total tax bill in dollars to be roughly the same as last year if there was a drop in the mill rate.

NEW FORMULA

City assessor Alfred Joyce said the reason for the increase was the new provincial government formula requiring assessment to reach a level of 50 per cent of current market value.

He added that under the new formula, the assessment on McKay-Cormack buildings had been lowered as had the machinery assessment.

No Shadow No Snow

Mist over the city this morning heralded an early spring.

It was sufficiently dense to stop the sun from casting shadows—especially the all-important shadow of the groundhog.

According to legend, if the groundhog sees his shadow on emerging from his burrow Feb. 2, it's back to the basement to wait out another six weeks of winter. So—no shadow, no snow.

Weatherman William Mackie, a mere human who must rely on such primitive aids as thermometers, barographs, anemometers, and calculus, and thereby can predict weather only 36 hours ahead, today called for cloudy skies with occasional rain tonight and Saturday, fog patches, and light winds.

The good news, though, is in the temperatures.

"Minimums across the area tonight will range between 40 and 45 degrees," he said, "and the maximum Saturday will be 50 degrees."

Outlook for Sunday is "about the same."

'Outsiders' Puzzle Mayor

Mayor R. B. Wilson today expressed astonishment at vehement criticism launched against the city by Oak Bay and Esquimalt because aldermen had decided they wanted a formal study of metro government or amalgamation.

The attack was contained in a joint statement hammered out at a secret meeting of Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils. It was delivered to the press but Victoria and Saanich councils—which were accused of "discourtesy" in bypassing intermunicipal committee — apparently did not receive copies. (See text page 5.)

The statement was framed in the shape of an ultimatum that Victoria and Saanich meet certain conditions in speaking to Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils.

NO "SHORTCUTTING"

Mayor Wilson denied there was any "shortcutting of intermunicipal committee" and pointed out a report on the city's decision already had been sent to the committee in accordance with the committee's own request that all councils make up their own minds and report back.

"We are following the normal channels of procedure," said the puzzled mayor.

He also said he found it difficult to understand "why Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils are so afraid of a study under the Municipal Act."

"WE'RE NOT MAD"

Mayor Wilson said he had no comment on the manner in which Oak Bay and Esquimalt made their pact and announced it.

"We don't want to introduce any rancor in this. We're not mad at anyone," he said

Earlier, Saanich Reeve Stanley Murphy said he may propose to his council that Victoria and Saanich "go-it-alone" in seeking a formal study in view of the Oak Bay and Esquimalt action.

He added he thought the "climate is favorable for amalgamation."

The Oak Bay-Esquimalt statement said both councils were opposed to amalgamation and metro and also to any unification of police and fire-fighting services.

It claimed a formal study of amalgation could lead to imposition of a merger on one of the municipalities if three others agreed to it.

PROVE IT

It demanded that Mayor Wilson and Reeve Murphy submit a brief to Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils and prove that a study "has sufficient merit to warrant serious consideration."

The statement offered informal discussion of amalgamation at the intermunicipal level followed by a vote of ratepayers.

It ended with a somewhat vague ultimatum:

"We have now made our offer to Victoria and Saanich to deal with these matters in what we consider to be a reasonable and proper fashion.

"Should our offer be refused we will consider it necessary in carrying out our duties as councillors in our respective municipalities to take whatever action may be necessary.

"We sincerely trust that this will not be necessary."

GUIDEPOST

Mayor Wilson pointed out that the Municipal Act study was designed by the legislature as a guidepost for approaching such surveys and it should be heeded.

He added that no study would be worth anything if some money wasn't spent to obtain a thorough analysis. A formal study would be substantially subsidized by the provincial government but an informal study, as proposed by Oak Bay and Esquimalt, would be paid entirely by the ratepayers.

Mayor Wilson said only if the study recommended metro could the municipal affairs minister use power "to decide" whether or not there would be a vote. If amalgamation were recommended, no vote could be forced by the government. It would have to be voluntarily ordered by the municipalities.

"Even if a vote were held under the Act, it would still require approval from two-thirds of the ratepayers," he said.

"The thing is so loaded with safeguards, it is difficult to understand why Oak Bay and Esquimalt fear such a study."

BOTTLE BATTLE

'Squares' Squelch Gardeners

The Victoria Horticultural Society is looking for milk bottles; but they must be round, if you please.

The society which uses them as containers at their flower shows, has been collecting them ever since the milk dairy industry changed to "square" milk bottles or cardboard containers.

Major George A. Wiggan, secretary-treasurer, said the change unwittingly created a problem not only for the society but for other garden clubs in B.C.

HIDE CONTAINERS

He explained that specially made cardboard collars will only fit the round bottles. The collars are used to hide the containers from view at flower shows.

"Round bottles are now becoming as scarce as hens' teeth," he said, "especially the pint size."

The society last year acquired some bottles from a local dairy, he said, but none are available now as the changeover from round to square has been completed.

"Who would have thought a few years ago that the actions of the dairy industry would indirectly affect one of the main hobbies of this province?" Major Wiggan asked.

ONE-WAY OAKALLA TICKET

Jet-Age Justice For Two Sharpies

Early one morning last week, two Ontario men boarded a plane at Patricia Bay for Vancouver after paying for two tickets to Toronto by a cheque.

A few hours later they were back in Victoria, appeared in court and were each sentenced to a year in prison after pleading guilty to obtaining goods by false pretences.

Sidney RCMP said the men, James Eldon Greer of Toronto and George Gilroy Thompson of Picton, arrived at the airport at 8.45 a.m. shortly before the plane left for Vancouver.

IN HURRY

They told the TCA clerk they were in a hurry to get to Toronto because there had "been a death in the family." They said they hadn't time to get any money from the bank and presented a cheque for $198 drawn on the main Victoria branch, Royal Bank of Canada.

To back up their integrity they told the ticket clerk they worked for a car sales firm in Victoria.

Shortly after Greer and Thompson had left for Vancouver the ticket clerk contacted the bank only to be told the cheque was worthless, and he notified TCA authorities at Vancouver.

The two were already sitting aboard the connecting jet to Toronto when they were taken off by airline officials and held for Richmond RCMP.

RCMP from Sidney happened to be taking prisoners to the mainland by amphibious plane that morning. Greer and Thompson were simply placed aboard for the return trip and were back at Patricia Bay by 11.45 a.m.

At 2.30 p.m. the same day they appeared before Magistrate D. G. Ashby in RCMP court and were each sentenced to a year in Oakalla prison.

Tax Cut Plea By TV-Hit Theatre Men

G. A. Sutherland, president of the B.C. Exhibitors' Association, sent a brief to Premier Bennett and all MLAs saying since the advent of television movie attendance has plunged 50 per cent in B.C.

During the same time, since 1953, he said the number of theatres in operation has been cut by only 17 per cent.

"It is obvious that unless immediate and complete relief is granted, a large number of additional theatres will soon have to go out of business," said Mr. Sutherland.

"It is not economically possible for 83 per cent of the theatres to exist on 50 per cent of the attendance," he added.

Mr. Sutherland said the government tax takes 9.09 per cent of the theatre-owners' gross income.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Put Pounds in Proper Place By Taking Special Exercise

Lowman

A—Yes. If you are overweight, you will have to diet, too, but if you are the correct weight, specialized exercise will redistribute your weight more attractively. Even if you are overweight and must count calories, individually prescribed exercises will speed the loss where you wish it.

Q—"What is the difference between a deodorant and an anti-perspirant?"

A — A deodorant banishes the odor of perspiration, and an anti-perspirant slows up perspiration. Today, you do not have to buy two products. You can get both benefits in one.

Q—"Some people seem to think that a woman looks younger when she is older if she is overweight. What do you think?"

A—I think that there is a point on the scales which is perfect for every woman. There is a point at which her figure is good and her face looks best. When she is older, this is usually about five pounds more than her ideal weight at the age of 25.

Q—"I just do not know how to fix my hair! I have a round face and I have been wearing my hair long, below my neck, with bangs on my forehead. Somehow this does not seem right."

A. How right you are! Get rid of the bangs as soon as possible and build your hair high on top. Then bring it close at the sides of your face. Your hair should extend below the ears, but not down to the shoulders.

Q. "My friends keep telling me that if I keep shaving my legs I will have much more hair on them."

A. There is no scientific evidence that this is true, so far as I know, and if I were, most women would be walking about with forests on their legs.

Q. "People keep telling me that wearing my hair in a pony tail will make it fall out. Is this true?"

A. There is some evidence that any style or habit which puts pressure on the hair for long periods of time may have some effect. Some authorities suspect that the pony tail and the habit of rolling the hair up every night may be detrimental.

Be Brunch Hostess of the Year

One of the most fun and leisurely ways to entertain is at a brunch. It means time in the morning to prepare and time in the afternoon to yourself. Sound interesting? Let's plan the menu. No-fold corn omelet is tops as the main dish. When done and turned out on a serving platter without folding, a crust of sausage, seasoned bread dressing and canned whole kernel corn tops the bright yellow omelet.

NO-FOLD CORN OMELET

One pound sausage meat, ½ cup packaged seasoned bread dressing, 1 can (12 or 16 oz.) whole kernel corn, 6 eggs, ⅓ cup water, 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Brown crumbled sausage in a 10" skillet; drain off all but 3 tablespoons fat. Stir in dressing, ¼ cup liquid from corn and drained corn; spread evenly in skillet. Heat over low heat. Beat egg whites with water and salt until stiff. Beat egg yolks with pepper until thick and lemon colored.

Carefully fold yolks into whites; pour over corn mixture and cook over low heat 10 minutes. If skillet handle is not heatproof, remove it. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes, until done. Loosen around edge and invert on serving plate. Six servings.

FROTHY GRAPEFRUIT APPLE DRINK

One can (1 pt. 2 fl. oz.) grapefruit juice, 1 can or jar (1 lb.) apple sauce, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 egg whites.

Mix chilled grapefruit juice and apple sauce with the sugar and cinnamon. Pour half of the mixture into an electric blender; add an egg white and beat until thick and frothy. Repeat with remaining ingredients. Six servings. (Note: Drink may be made by beating with an electric mixer or rotary egg beater until thick and frothy.)

DEAR ABBY . . .

She Ain't Guilty!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband works the graveyard shift, but that is not my problem. Listen to this: A very good friend of mine told me that I am the subject of much gossip because for the past six months someone has been parking a car in front of my house practically all night long. She said my neighbors say I have been receiving a "caller." Now I am long past the age for that kind of monkey business, and I don't like those stories. Last night I looked outside and sure enough there was a strange car parked there. I certainly wasn't going to sit up all night and try to meet the idiot who owns it. How can I find out who is giving me this bad name?

NOT GUILTY.

DEAR NOT GUILTY: Call your police department and ask them to find out for you. After all, it's your right to avoid the appearance of evil.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 years old and have never gone beyond kissing a girl. I do not intend to go any further until I am married because I think a man has no right to ask a girl to be any more pure than he is. When I express this opinion to other men, they look at me as though I needed psychiatric treatment. Am I such an unusual breed of cat?

UNUSUAL BREED.

DEAR CAT: It's refreshing to know that not all men come to the altar slightly used, but expect their brides to be purr-fect!

DEAR ABBY: I have four teen-age children and, of course, they have friends who call them on the telephone. Our phone rings maybe 20 times in an evening, and this is getting my husband down. He threatens to tear the phone from the wall because he can't stand the ringing. He tells me he does not need a phone, and neither do we.

MOTHER OF FOUR.

DEAR MOTHER: Ask the telephone company to "adjust" the bell on your telephone. It's probably as shrill as a fire alarm. If it were changed to a softer jingle, your husband's nerves wouldn't jangle.

CONFIDENTIAL to "Married to the North Pole": Don't go to extremes. The South Pole isn't any better.

By NONA DAMASKE

Theme of Royal Colwood Golf Club's spring bridge and tea held in the clubhouse Thursday was "Spring Chapeaux." Above the huge granite fireplace a gay hat box of pink and grey was centred with a cluster of pink and white flowers. Satin streamers dropped to the mantel which was massed with pale pink spring blossoms and exciting gift packages in various shades of pink.

A beautiful model hat, made of Romance pink roses, was centre of attraction, and was later given as a door prize.

The theme was well chosen. Approximately 200 women played bridge in the attractive lounge and the overall effect was that of a huge spring garden. Every color of the new season was there — hats of straw, flowers, tulle and silk vied for attention with the bridge cards.

In striking contrast to her brunette hair was Mrs. Don Ross' white rough straw with its side bow of crisp white taffeta. Flattering to her deep tan gained on a recent visit to Tahiti was Mrs. F. A. E. Manning's round cloche of cream straw. Completely wrapped in coffee organza it had an organza rose as trim.

Mrs. J. G. Breuls looked like a breath of spring with her simply-styled hat of soft pink petals. A stunning hat of natural straw was worn by Mrs. G. B. Bryson. The globe crown was separated from the tiny stiff brim by a band of black velvet and a crimson rose bobbed saucily at the side.

Mrs. Frank Mack was wearing a black and gold finely-twisted straw turban with just a tiny fleck of avocado green here and there.

Rough textured straw in deep violet fashioned the tall toque worn by Mrs. John Andrews. Mrs. Fredrick Bliss chose the new side-tilt style for her head-hugging chapeau of flowers in tones of old rose and pale pink. Softly-toned green leaves peaked between the rose petals.

New Immigrants Changing Face of Australia

Influx of new immigrants "ready to challenge some of the old ways and speed up the pace of production" is "changing the character of Australia," Women's Canadian Club was told Thursday aftetrnoon in the Empress Hotel.

Guest speaker Prof. Geoffrey Davies, who lectures on history and international studies at University of British Columbia, pointed out that these immigrants "are making a relentless effort to get a stake in their new land. They expect no favors, and one sees Greeks, Poles, Italians and Germans all struggling to find their place in the sun.

"They are forcing Australian labor to hustle more and they are introducing a much greater note of competition into Australian society."

It is still true that 90 per cent of Australians are of British descent, but "there are more Catholics than Protestants, more working class and less middle class than in an average British sample.

"Out of this melting pot has emerged a tough, aggressive, hard-working people, inveterately hostile to authority and looking at the world with a fresh irreverent eye.

"They love to call a spade a spade and use their own nasal Cockney idiom in doing so.

"The faults of such attitudes are that they sometimes produce an aggressiveness in word and deed; the value is that they produce a downright honesty which says what it thinks."

Prof. Davies pointed out that "despite this, throughout Australia, there is a strong conviction that every man is as good as his neighbor, a robust confidence that equality and democracy can be equated.

He spoke briefly of the beginning of working class solidarity and of the labor government in 1904, and of the major voice of unions in government.

Real awakening of the country came, he believed, with the war against Japan and the conviction "of the true nakedness of their position.

"It was then that it realized it had to look to itself first and then to the United States to find increasing support.

"Today the gross national product has rocketed from under five billion dollars at the war's end to nearly 14 billion today."

In this the continent has been aided by the "bold new immigration scheme that has brought the net migration gain of 1.2 million—much larger than our own in proportion to the total population," the speaker said.

"Australia today is sloughing off its old skin and a new one is in the making," the speaker concluded. "She looks confidently to the future."

He will win the first spade in his own hand, take his three high diamonds, lead the five of hearts and go up with dummy's king.

This line of play will guarantee him four diamonds, three spades, one heart, and the ace of clubs.

Some duplicate players would do the same, but most of them would make some try for an overtrick or two, whereupon they would surely wind up without their contracts.

The logical way to go after overtricks is to win the first spade in dummy and promptly take a club finesse. If the club finesse works and the suit breaks, declarer will make at least 10 tricks and may wind up with 11.

Unfortunately for this line of attack, the club finesse loses and the suit does not break. West will take his king of clubs and lead a second spade whereupon some declarers will find a way to go down two tricks. This is not too hard. All they have to do is to lay down the ace of clubs whereupon East and West will be able to make three clubs, two hearts and a spade.

T.V. with Lee

Australian Opera Singer Joan Sutherland on Telephone Hour, 9.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

ALTHOUGH I've always been secretly in love with his wife Gracie, I have been, at best, lukewarm about the talents of George Burns as a solo turn. The only unique thing about his act being that he was the lone man in show business who played stooge to a cigar.

But after watching him on the Perry Como Show, Wednesday night, I take it all back. The guy was altogether charming in varied turns with host Como, Lena Horne and that gay blade of light, nimble Peter Gennaro.

In fact Burns was the success of the show in that he supplied the geniality and the warmth that served to blend each of these diversified artists into something as homey as a living room sing-song. That he received the hand of the night at the final curtain was sufficient proof thereof.

But what has happened to Lena? Don't I remember her some years back as a bearer of ballads that were sweetness and light? Now she is a belter—a magnificent belter I'll admit—but of rhythms that are complete out of sychronization with mine and, frankly, she stirs me not. But, ah, later on in the show when she joined in a medley with Perry and (sometimes) Burns she became manna to my schmaltzy soul.

Taking it all in all, Como's was a dandy show.

* * *

LET OTHER critics pan if they wish Playdate's hour-long hockey drama, "One Man to Beat," that held the CBC network Wednesday night but I will defend it to the last adjective left in my battered typewriter.

Fred Edge's play about the worries of a veteran goalie who misses his last opportunity to win the coveted Vezina trophy might not have been great drama or, for that matter, especially well-acted drama. But it was, by golly, modern and, above all, as Canadian as the game itself.

Therefore all the more power to John Vernon as the goalie, Victoria Mitchell who played his long-suffering wife, to Ed McNamara as a sporting sportswriter, John Horton as the unsporting sportswriter, young Ralph Endersby as the boy fan and all the rest who strove so valiantly in the name of Canadian contemporary TV drama.

Many more of these, please, if for no other reason than practice, so the saying goes, makes perfect.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

'Inside Story' Worth Telling

Marine architects could find plenty of room for improvement in their designs if they would sit down and be comfortable in a cruiser built by their plans, then try to admire the view.

In most cases they would find the windows well above their heads, and nothing in sight but the sky and the leering grins of urchins on the float. That might be just a minor annoyance, but it seems unfair that a yacht should be designed for standees only, and that the people on board cannot see out but that every casual loafer on the dock can see in. Not that anyone minds being peeked at—it's the one-sidedness that hurts.

* * *

The trouble, of course, is that too many boats are designed from the outside, with too little consideration of interior problems. Naturally everyone likes a cruiser which appears to be making 30 knots while standing still, but since the owner enjoys it from inside, and not from a distance watching someone else take it away, interior designing rates a little more attention.

Proof that proper visibility is possible can be seen in a cruiser recently finished by Alex Nichol, 220 Robertson Street (Times, April 21, 1961).

The 28-foot craft, to be launched in the spring, has a roomy cabin with dinette, sink and galley. Sleeping quarters are in the forecastle. Plans were drawn by Edwin Monk, Seattle designer, and were followed faithfully by Mr. Nichol.

* * *

"The architect was fully aware of the importance of good interior design," Mr. Nichol said in a description of the boat. "There is space to allow the floor to be built at the proper height for the owner, and the tables and seats are high enough to give a perfect view out the windows."

There are ways to make the view from inside as good as that from the deck. It only takes a little ingenuity to find them. While still on the subject of visibility, I wonder if some of the windshields on open runabouts would be missed if they were taken off and stored in the attic. Very often they are covered with salt and actually hinder the view forward, and there is a strong temptation to sit on top of the seat back with feet on the seat. They also are not much help in a scramble to the bow to fend off a barnacle-coated piling after reverse has been fumbled and way is still on.

* * *

No doubt there are times when a windshield would be worth a couple of pints of blood, but I'd venture they are rare during the summer boating season.

MLA HITS POWER FIRM

'Service Everyone Or Lose Franchise'

Make West Kootenay Power and Light Company extend its services, cancel its franchise or appropriate it to the public, Grand Forks-Greenwood MLA Mrs. Lois Haggen told the government Thursday.

The NDP-CCF member said she had no quarrel with the company where it serves.

"But why is this company allowed to sit, as a dog in the manger, neither fully servicing the area under its franchise nor allow anyone else to?

"It has enjoyed lucrative markets for years. It constructed its plants when costs were low and has had the benefits of depreciation over many years. I contend that they should service everyone or lose their franchise. Or, they should have been taken over so that we might have the benefits of public power," Mrs. Haggen said.

"PARSIMONY"

The member also criticized the government for its "parsimony where it does not show to allow action where it attracts political publicity" in matters of providing services such as treatment for the chronically ill.

Terrorism In Algeria Alarms Pope

Addressing priests and members of religious orders who brought him the traditional candlemass feast gift of candles, the pontiff said the Algerian situation had "aggravated in the last few weeks so as to explode into episodes of open disorder and crime."

He said:

"Every day, every night, the gravest acts of violence multiply the victims there."

"Experenice unfortunately proves that violence breeds violence. Man's sacred good is not defended in this way.

Private Detectives Found Not Guilty

Charges of acting as private detectives without possessing the requisite licences laid against Robert Rathsburg of 2647 Anscomb Place, and Charles de Macedo, 1162 Burdett, were dismissed in city police court this week.

The two had been charged separately under the Private Detectives Licensing Act.

Magistrate William Ostler dismissed the charge against Rathsburg because the Crown didn't prove its case and the charge against de Macedo for lack of sufficient evidence.

City Alderman Wants Free Parking Permit

Ald. A. W. Toone Thursday said he will seek equal rights for aldermen on city streets after learning some outside councillors have parking permits issued by the City Hall.

The permits exempt the councillors from the three outlying municipalities from paying at street parking meters.

"In view of my own experiences on city business, I feel aldermen should have these exemptions," Ald. Toone said.

RESTRICTED USE

City manager C. C. Wyatt said the reeves and some councillors are given exemption permits, but they are restricted to use on certain streets. The permits are issued to those councillors who enter the city on civic business, such as attending meetings of the library board and intermunicipal committee.

Although aldermen have no parking permits, they do have reserved parking space behind the City Hall.

City police commissioners have unrestricted parking permits, along with 80 other persons. There are 27 restricted permits.

Committee Help Promised for Bowling Club

City finance committee Thursday undertook a study to see if it could assist the Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling and Social Club in maintaining clubroom facilities.

The 170-member club has been ordered by the CPR to vacate a room it uses in the Crystal Garden by the end of February so that it could be used for expanding the wax museum.

Club members asked the committee to force the CPR to retain the building for recreational purposes only, as required under a contract with the city which owns the land, or else to release the portion of the property behind the building where there are eight bowling greens.

The latter, and preferred course, would enable construction of a clubhouse, estimated at $7,000, for the organization.

The CPR's lease on the land runs out in 1964 anyway, the club pointed out, so the company should not be unwilling to give up the bowling portion in advance.

Committee members promised they would do everything they could to assist the club and ordered a study by the city manager and city solicitor of the CPR contract.

Multiple-Member Ridings Criticized

An independent commission to redistribute seats in the B.C. legislature was called for this week by James Rhodes (NDP-CCF—Delta) in the throne speech debate.

He said multiple-member ridings should be eliminated entirely and the redistribution should be done with greater regard for population and area.

The commission should definitely not be a committee of the legislature, he said.

Mr. Rhodes said present distribution is unfair to MLAs and to constituents.

The opposition member compared his riding of Delta, population 150,000 with an area of 454 square miles, with Victoria city, population 60,000 and eight square miles.

In Delta, which has six civic governments, there are two members of the legislature, and in Victoria—a single local administration — there are three members.

Revised assessments in the Fraser Valley are forcing farmers out of business, the member told the House.

"In a few years we will be forced to buy more green marketing produce from California as there will be no areas in the lower mainland producing," he said.

Richmond farmers are now paying the highest taxes in Canada and under new assessments and provisions of the Public Schools Act will be paying even more, he said.

Farmers cannot subdivide or sell and still qualify for farm assessment, he pointed out.

Problems are being created at the municipal level because if farmers are unable to make a reasonable living from the land, local councils are "morally obligated to permit subdividing," which could bankrupt them.

Winter Work Payment Plan Will Stand

Municipal Affairs Minister Black indicated Thursday there will be no change in the provincial government's approach to provision of funds for winter works projects.

He told reporters that "winter works were designed to create new jobs," and that this rule had been laid down by the federal government when it started the program.

If the money is not used to create new jobs, he said, "it amounts to nothing more than a left-handed way of increasing municipal grants."

He was being questioned about complaints that municipalities were able to obtain provincial funds under the winter works program only if they employed persons who were on social assistance to carry out the work involved.

Some municipal councils have stated that they have had to let out regular employees during winter months and could not rehire them under the winter works aid program.

Mr. Black said, however, that the government is always willing to take a look at any individual case where injustice might be claimed.

Richter Farm Sale Subject Of Lawsuit

Mr. Richter wanted the property valued at $85,000. Two other sisters and a brother-in-law wanted to put it for sale at $150,000.

In a judgement here Mr. Justice Munroe directed that the property be listed a compromise figure of $125,000 for three months. He said if it was not sold in that time the case could be reviewed.

Mr. Richter said a Penticton real estate firm had appraised the Keremos farm property at $85,000.

New Traffic Tie-Up Faces London Monday

LONDON (Reuters)—Faced with another 24-hour transportation strike next Monday, the government issued an appeal to London commuters Thursday in an effort to avoid the traffic chaos which paralyzed the city this week.

The appeal asked London commuters to avoid travelling unless it was absolutely essential, to try to avoid the rush hours or to make up car pools.

Funeral Hawkers Called 'Vicious'

High pressure funeral salesmen who victimize senior citizens were attacked in the legislature Thursday by Mrs. Lois Haggen (NDP-CCF — Grand Forks Greenwood).

In throne speech debate, Mrs. Haggen was critical of government delay in enforcing legislative committee recommendations to control the sale of prepaid funerals. One company, Pineview Memorial Gardens, "knew there was no legislation to prevent their vicious methods," she said.

They first came to her notice when one was taken to court for not having a trade licence, she said.

'UNSCRUPULOUS'

"They are professionals in their line. Their methods are unscrupulous and high pressure tactics were used," she said.

Some of the victims did not read their contracts, others could not, being elderly Doukhobors, she said. In some cases the verbal explanation did not jibe with the written contract.

"And all this is in very small print; very, very small print," Mrs. Haggen said, holding up photostatic copies of contracts. "Few people could read it without glasses."

STOPPED FORCIBLY

In one instance, a man who did not wish to enter into an agreement tried to get rid of a salesman by calling police, but the salesman stopped him forcibly, the House was told.

Part of the sales pitch was to show prospects a picture of a "good looking casket" described as the type included in the purchase. The fine print said the firm could substitute a casket of "equal quality" and in fact the casket was not available, investigation showed.

As far as she knew, only one couple was successful in getting money back after being dissatisfied.

She said it was also found that a carrying charge of 50 cents a month was imposed, even though advertisements said "no charges."

"One of the most amazing things to me about this whole racket is the fact that the honorable member from Rossland-Trail (Social Crediter Donald Brothers), or his firm, was the solicitor for the Trail funeral home . . ." Mrs. Haggen said.

"I would have thought he would be out protecting the public from a plan" such as the kind the legislative committee deplored.

"I cannot understand his part in this" she said.

Call General Strike

MONTEVIDEO (Reuters) — Uruguayan trade unions have called a general strike for next Wednesday in protest against Uruguay's vote at Punta del Este to exclude Cuba from the Organization of American States.

Population of Uganda, estimated at 5,900,000, is 98 per cent African.

"NEW FRONTIER" photography is like trying to stop "perpetual motion," according to Ottawa photographer Yousuf Karsh, who is in Washington making portraits of President Kennedy and his top advisers.

STUDENT-TEACHERS ASK EARLY START

Sex Talks in Grade One?

VANCOUVER (CP) — University of British Columbia student-teachers say sex education should be started in grade one and continue to grade 12.

In a brief to be presented to the Western Canada Student-Teachers' Conference at Calgary today, the students said informal training should be started in grade one and formal instruction started before puberty, grade six.

The brief, released to the press here, said students should discuss sex without shame and embarassment; acquire an appreciation of their roles in the chain of human propagation; be made aware that sex is a natural human function; be taught to look upon sex and love as a constructive force necessary for a happy home life.

"Increasingly, the responsibilities of society and the home are being assumed by the school. It now looks as if sex education of the child may be added to these responsibilities."

The brief said a survey conducted on the UBC campus by Prof. Lorne Brown of the education college showed that almost 50 per cent of the students interviewed learned about sex from friends.

A United States survey showed that sexual promiscuity was higher among students who had no formal sex instruction.

'Andy Hardy' Creator Carey Wilson Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer-writer Carey Wilson, 73, who originated the movies' Andy Hardy and Dr. Kildare series and wrote 80 screen plays ranging from the original Ben Hur to Mutiny on the Bounty, died Thursday.

Films produced by Wilson contributed impetus to the careers of Lana Turner, Mickey Rooney, Kathryn Grayson, Esther Williams, Judy Garland, Margaret O'Brien, Red Skelton, and other stars.

'TIPS' SAVED, LOST

Two small boys were rushed to hospital by police Wednesday after losing a finger tip each.

Teddy Cook, three, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cook of 225 Robertson, lost the tip of a finger in a door. City police rushed him to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

At the same time police sent a car back to the Cook household to find the lost finger tip. It was recovered and eventually replaced on Terry's finger.

However, the tip of a finger lost by 10-year-old Jim Bugslag, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bugslag, 1401 Oliver, was found to be too small to be stitched on successfully.

He caught his finger between two kitchen carts in Oak Bay United Church Hall. He was taken to Jubilee Hospital by Oak Bay firemen, who rushed back to the hall, found the tip and returned it to the hospital.

ASSOCIATION CHARGE:

Confusion Reigns In B.C. Trucking

The provincial department of commercial transport is only "a tool for interference" in the trucking industry and should be placed under the attorney-general, B.C. equipment owners said Thursday.

The Construction Equipment Owners' Association of B.C. in a statement from W. G. McKinnon, said the three-year-old department has only confused everyone.

The transport department administers the Motor Carrier Act; the motor vehicles branch of the attorney-general's department administers the Motor Vehicle Act.

The two are working at cross-purposes, said Mr. McKinnon's statement.

VIOLATIONS CONTINUE

The result is that there are still a great many violations of weight, licence and gas regulations.

"The (transport) department's actions have helped to confuse magistrates trying to deal fairly with weight regulations.

"The department has operated at cross-purposes to the motor vehicle branch and has at times drawn a haze over fixed responsibility," said the equipment owners.

Best way to secure uniform enforcement would be to place the department under the attorney-general, chief law officer of the province.

DUPLICATION

"This action would remove some sorry situations from our scene," said Mr. McKinnon. "For example, RCMP officers pick up a truck for overloading only to find that another department has issued a recent permit allowing such overloading."

This only leads to grief, confusion and unfair treatment for operators.

"Wouldn't it save a lot of money to have the responsible department in control?" asked Mr. McKinnon.

He said that in addition, all highway department patrols also should come under the attorney-general.

To illustrate present confusion over enforcement, the association checked 89 jobs employing trucks.

The 854 trucks involved broke a total of 878 regulations on weight, licensing, gas and of the Motor Carrier Act, the statement claimed.

RED CROSS DRIVE LAUNCHED

Medical Advances Boost Blood Needs

A well-known Victoria physician Wednesday told the annual meeting of the Victoria and district branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society that hospitals will need more and more blood donations to keep pace with new developments in the field of medicine.

Dr. Murray Anderson, medical administrator for the Royal Jubilee Hospital, said every year more and more uses are being found for blood.

Two new developments, he said, is the use of blood for serious kidney and heart operations.

BABIES SAVED

He said blood donations are also saving the lives of many newly-born babies.

"I can assure you that the blood given by volunteer donors is being well used and is saving many lives and making many people comfortable," he said.

Dr. Anderson's address was followed by a report from R. Hogarth, chairman of the blood donor panel, that clinics last year collected more blood than in 1960.

He said blood donations collected at 32 clinics totaled 6,484, representing an increase of 406 donations. The figure does not include 227 emergency donations. In this field the Royal Canadian Navy was praised for its constant willingness to donate when other donors could not be contacted.

BADGES PRESENTED

William W. Lewis, former manager of the Montreal Trust Co., was appointed chairman of the 1962 Red Cross campaign. This year's object has been set at $79,000, the same as last year.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of 45 badges of service to volunteer Red Cross workers and supporters of the society.

Sooke Cracks Million Mark

SOOKE—Budget for Sooke School District 62 this year is $1,023,886, school board officials revealed today.

"This is our first budget over the million-dollar mark," said L. W. Wheeldon, secretary-treasurer.

Budget for 1961 was $956,754.

A large part of the $67,132 increase is an additional $30,000 to be paid in teachers' salaries. Although actual salary increases are slight, there are 102 teachers, more than ever before.

The district covers all that area between Goldstream, Langford and Port Renfrew, to include Colwood, Metchosin, Sooke, East Sooke, Otter Point and Jordan River. It has 11 elementary schools and three secondary schools.

DUNCAN — A stolen safe and the stolen pickup truck used to transport it were found within 100 yards of each other on Mount Prevost Road Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. Hamish Gibson, Somenos Road, who were gathering wood for their fireplace.

The 1,500-pound safe was taken early Sunday morning from the grocery store of Preston Bruce. The bottom had been ripped open and $2,000 in cash and cheques removed. Business records kept in the safe were found at the scene.

Mr. Bruce said the loss was covered by insurance.

NANAIMO — Ray Knight, owner manager of the Malaspina Hotel here, has sold the hotel to Elgin Investments Limited of Vancouver.

New owners plan to develop marine facilities at the rear of the hotel on Nanaimo Harbor. Manager will be Walter Sheppard, former manager of a Duncan hotel.

SIDNEY—The golden jubilee of Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce will be celebrated Tuesday evening with a banquet at Hotel Sidney.

The event will recall formation of the Sidney Board of Trade, parent group of today's organization, in 1912, when there was no other central authority or community body.

One of its first moves was toward incorporation, which it finally achieved in 1952. The Board of Trade created the Sidney Water & Power Company, Ltd., then started the drive to assume public ownership, and was sole sponsor of the local fire department for many years.

It also was responsible for installation of a sewage system and has constantly pressed for improved roads and marine facilities in the area.

COURTENAY—Union officials here are slated to undergo concentrated training in union policy.

Earl Kemps, secretary of the Courtenay local of the IWA, said Thursday the training will begin with eight to 10 committee men from Van West and T. W. Mackenzie logging companies Monday.

Mr. Kemps completed an instructor's course in Parksville which was instituted by the research and education division of the international union. He said the course is designed primarily for union officers, but that any member may enroll.

Runaways Adrift Two Scary Days

Youths Returned to Foster Home After Stealing Boat at Oak Bay

Two Victoria teen-agers, who stole a boat to "see the world," will be returned to their Carey Road foster home today after drifting for two lonesome days in the Juan de Fuca Strait.

The youths, aged 13 and 14, took a 16-foot outboard from the Oak Bay Boathouse Tuesday evening and headed down the coast. The boat is owned by Herbert Shaw, 1856 Monteith.

OUT OF GAS

The boys said their boat ran out of gas at about 9 p.m. Tuesday and had been drifting aimlessly since.

They were discovered by Port Angeles fisherman Tom Phillips who said he came upon them at about 2 p.m. Thursday in a dense fog at Hein's Point near Whidbey Island.

He then towed them to Port Angeles where the two told him they lived. Mr. Phillips said the boat was undamaged and the youths were wearing life jackets.

GAVE UP

Washington State police said the boys turned themselves in Thursday afternoon, admitting the theft with the excuse they "wanted to see the world."

The two spent the night in the Clallam County juvenile home.

'GOOD FAIRY' TALK

What Free Power Asks Williston?

If Ottawa believes B.C. can get free power from Columbia River downstream benefits there must be a good fairy somewhere, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said Thursday.

With graphs and tables, he gave the legislature a reasoned argument for B.C.'s Columbia policy—sell the benefits to the U.S.

With the money, B.C. would pay for the three dams it has to build on the Columbia—Arrow and Duncan lakes, and Mica Creek—and immediately install generators at Mica.

PAY FULL COST

If the benefits were returned to B.C., it would have to pay the full cost of the dams, plus maintenance, plus operation plus interest, plus transmission.

"How they can say that's free to people in B.C. I don't know," said Mr. Williston, "unless there's a good fairy in Canada somewhere.

"There's a complete lack of understanding about how we're going to get the money back to pay the costs.

DON'T UNDERSTAND

Mr. Williston said he was afraid that federal finance minister Donald Fleming "has not gone into the problem and he hasn't studied."

"I don't think Mr. Fulton understands either," he added

But B.C.'s plan meant that when power was actually generated at Mica Creek, the first B.C.-made power from the Columbia scheme, "that's the only cheap power there is.

"If we're going to let the welfare of the people of Canada be the criterion, there's only one way to go."

Mr. Williston said there hasn't so far been "five minutes' delay" on the Columbia project by B.C. But unless there was federal-provincial action soon there would be a real delay.

First serious effect would be that the big engineering task force assembled for the project would have to be disbanded.

It is the largest group of engineers ever assembled in Canada, said Mr. Williston, and it has cost $6,000,000.

THERMAL PLANTS

But if construction does not start soon, it will break up.

He also pointed out that if there is a delay, it will only result in a "serious loss" in the benefits due to Canada, as the U.S. will quickly move to meet its urgent power needs by building new thermal plants.

Word Soon On Ferry Subsidies

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has told Premier Bennett a decision on ferry subsidies is coming soon.

In a telegram to the premier Thursday, the prime minister said the subsidy question was currently before the federal treasury board.

He would let the premier know the result as soon as possible.

Mr. Bennett cabled the prime minister to ask for details of a subsidy for the two new ferries he is building for the former Black Ball route to Horseshoe Bay.

The Maritime Commission had earlier told the premier he could not have a full 40 per cent subsidy if he awarded the contract for engines to a British firm, which was low bidder.

'Master Of the Twist'

The contortionist, according to Randolph Harding (NDP-CCF—Kalso Slocan) was William Speare, Social Crediter from Cariboo.

Mr. Speare, speaking to the throne speech debate, was protesting criticism of the integrity of government members.

"I have been in the government for five years and I have yet to be dictated to. In the final analysis you know we are free to vote as we please."

Mr. Speare said it would take more than the indemnity paid an MLA to make him do as he was told. (MLAs get $5,000.)

But he added: "We are fortunate in having a premier who can command the respect of the men with whom he works."

"You're the master of The Twist," added Mr. Harding.

No Change in Cuba Trade Diefenbaker Tells House

TWO-FACED PICASSO TO PUZZLE PURCHASER

LONDON (UPI)—Whoever buys the $170,000 Pablo Picasso painting "Death of Harlequin" at auction here will face a peculiar problem—what to do about a $60,000 Picasso painted on its back.

The two-faced painting, one of 32 pictures belonging to author Somerset Maugham which will be auctioned, is on plasterboard about three-sixteenths of an inch thick.

"Whoever buys it would stand some chance of splitting it into two separate pictures—but at great risk," said a spokesman.

He said it had been known for some time that there was another painting on the back of "Harlequin," but that its worth was not realized until the picture was taken out of its frame to be auctioned.

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

The Social Credit government Thursday defeated a non-confidence motion based on charges it allowed oil tycoon Frank McMahon to make gigantic profits at the taxpayers' expense.

ALEX MACDONALD

The vote came after a fierce attack on Mr. McMahon in the legislature by New Democratic Party-CCF member Alex Macdonald, of Vancouver East.

Mr. Macdonald said Mr. McMahon and his friends made $11,250,000 from transferring rights of way from one company to another in order to build the new crude oil pipeline from the Peace River country to Vancouver.

The rights of way were transferred from Westcoast Transmission to Western Pacific Products, which actually built the line. Both are McMahon companies.

32-14 VOTE

The four Liberals voted with the government, because, said Oak Bay MLA Alan Macfarlane, they could not condemn a man without a full hearing.

The vote was 32-14.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, his voice shaking with anger, branded the NDP charges as "being completely at variance with the facts".

He said future production and marketing of the oil would justify completely the McMahon pipeline.

Mr. Macdonald said the McMahon interests also took options—with no initial investment—on Western stock which since had soared in value.

FORCED OUT

He said the government had made its conditions so tough that another pipeline company had to back out of the project, leaving McMahon the only contender for a franchise.

He linked McMahon to Social Credit campaign funds and propaganda which helped the party win 1960's election.

"The motorists of the province should know that when they pay for their gas, they will be paying off these promoters' secret profits for years to come. They should know they will be paying off the political debts of the Social Credit government.

'PROFITEERING'

"It is a disgrace to this province that any government should be allowed to reward its friends by allowing profiteering in public utilities whereby the consumer pays, and industry pays, and legitimate investors pay, for this government which has lost the right to govern."

His non-confidence motion regretted that the throne speech did not contain any measures to protect the public

Probe Asked By Liberal On Oil Profit

Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane today called for a special committee of the legislature to investigate charges made Thursday that oil promoters have made huge private fortunes at public expense.

Mr. Macfarlane filed notice that he will move the committee be set up by the House.

New Democratic Party-CCF member Alex Macdonald of Vancouver East charged that Mr. McMahon had made $11,250,000 without risking a cent through a government franchise to build his Western Pacific Products crude oil pipeline from the Peace River to Vancouver.

Mr. Macfarlane's motion said a committee should be empowered to examine these "serious allegations."

The committee should have power to send for persons, papers and records in order to make a report on the oil and gas industry, it said.

PEACE RIVER LICENCE BID

B.C. Prepares For Showdown

Any doubts about the B.C. government's intentions of actually building the Peace River power project were dispelled Thursday night by new plans announced in the legislature.

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston admitted that there were such doubts abroad.

He said that even businessmen from the Peace River country met "a stone wall" when they came to Vancouver six weeks ago to seek financing for local projects.

And at the same time he announced the move which could bring a final showdown on the issue with the federal government.

Mr. Williston disclosed these new plans:

- Surveys are under way for possible extension of the PGE railway to the dam site at Portage Mountain;
- Studies are also being made for a pulp mill there which would operate for 15 years on salvage wood from the flooded area;
- A water licence application is now being drawn up;
- Bids will close March 8 on three diversion tunnels (first major step in the project) and 50 sets of specifications have been taken out by interested firms;
- Construction will be phased so that the level of water in the new reservoir is raised at the same rate that timber is harvested to avoid waste;
- Work will start this spring on a new transmission line between Lillooet and Prince George which may be extended to the dam site to provide power during construction;
- After the dam is built the power flow will be reversed and the line used to carry Peace power to the north central area.

New Soviet Formula For Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has proposed separate United Nations membership for East and West Germany and for West Berlin, well-informed sources said today.

The proposals were advanced in one of the two documents given to Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow Jan. 12.

The paper, authoritative sources said, discussed Soviet ideas for changing the status of West Berlin to that of a free city.

The other document covered the Soviet concept of future association between East and West Germany on the one hand, and ideas on what links should remain between West Germany and the "free" West Berlin on the other. The Soviet formula calls for a full political divorce between West Berlin and West Germany, and only limited economic ties.

Army Tanks Converge On Paris

PARIS (AP) — French Army tanks converged on Paris today to forestall any attempt by the right-wing secret army to overthrow President Charles de Gaulle as reports of an imminent peace pact for Algeria persisted.

With mounted machine-guns, two squadrons totalling 32 tanks moved on the capital to give armored support to 25,000 riot police placed on the alert against the threat of an uprising by the rightist underground fighting against independence for the North African territory.

De Gaulle will address the country by radio and television Monday night in what shaped up as a crucial statement on the long secret negotiations with the Algerian Nationalist Liberation Front to end the seven-year rebellion.

Informed diplomatic sources said the agreement already had been drafted and needed only the formal signatures of both sides.

COUP ATTEMPT FEARED

France's allies have been notified that the De Gaulle regime seriously fears an attempted coup by the right-wing extremists either in France or Algeria—or in both places—when the peace accord is announced.

The Algerian rebel cabinet was meeting today in Tunis to take up the projected peace accord before putting it before a special session of the National Revolutionary Council—a sort of rebel parliament—in Tripoli within the next two weeks.

JULIO AMOEDO

Argentina Recalls Cuba Envoy

The step had been expected as President Arturo Frondizi sought to appease military critics of his soft line toward the Fidel Castro regime at the recent inter-American foreign ministers' conference.

Recalling the ambassador does not constitute a diplomatic break, but morning newspapers here had suggested that the crisis between the president and the nation's leading military men was nearing an end. They predicted a gradual break in relations with Cuba.

However, many officers were reported still demanding the immediate complete break which the nation's military leadership demanded in an ultimatum to the president Thursday night.

Escaped Convicts Terrorize Farmer

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Three knife-wielding men held a 70-year-old farmer prisoner in his own home for 7½ hours Thursday night, then escaped in his car before dawn.

Harold Blacklock of Mount Chesney, about five miles north of here, told police he recognized the trio as men who escaped from nearby Joyceville pirson Monday night.

Reply Given Rusk Appeal

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Prime Minister Diefenbaker in House of Commons today served notice on the United States that Canadian policy on trade with Cuba will be made in Ottawa, not in Washington.

Amid loud applause from the government members the Prime Minister firmly rejected the suggestion made by United States Secretary Dean Rusk that Cuba had been using dollars earned in its trade with Canada to "promote Communist subversion in neighboring countries" of Latin-America.

Mr. Diefenbaker cited statistics to show that Cuba had not been earning dollars in its trade with Canada.

CANADA NOT NAMED

The question came up in the Commons as a result of an appeal made by Mr. Rusk that friendly nations follow the isolate-Cuba line of the Organization of American States.

Mr. Rusk made the appeal at a press conference. However he declined to single out Canada or any other nation when asked whether Canadian co-operation would be necessary to make the OAS policy towards Cuba effective. (See story, Page 5).

Canada is the only independent nation in the western hemisphere outside of the OAS. Foreign ministers of the organization voted this week to toss out Cuba but implementation of this vote is expected to take some time.

FIGURES PROVE POINT

Reaction in Canada's capital was that Mr. Rusk's admonition was directed at this country.

The criticism, if directed at Canada, was unfounded, the Prime Minister indicated. And he had the trade figures to back up his claim.

Canadian exports to Cuba were nearly five times her imports from that country. Consequently Canadian trade actually was taking up dollars that the Cuban government earned elsewhere. Far from providing Cuba with dollars by which it might spread Communism Canada was in fact "soaking up" dollars that might otherwise be used by Cuba in its efforts to make Latin America Communist, the Prime Minister pointed out.

He made it clear that Can-

94 TB Cases Discovered At Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—A serious outbreak of tuberculosis has been uncovered in a high school on the east outskirts of Edmonton. A nearby residential area is being checked for possible cases.

Ninety-two students and two teachers have contracted the disease, Dr. Herman Siemans, medical director of the Leduc-Strathcona health unit, said today.

The cases were found in Salisbury High School, six miles east of Edmonton, following X-ray examinations.

Health officials said a teacher was found to be the carrier. He complained of being ill and his ailment was diagnozed as TB Jan. 2.

Pickersgill Flies Two Flags ...Distinctive...Emblematic

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal MP J. W. Pickersgill said today statements by Opposition Leader Pearson mean two flags for Canada.

Mr. Pickersgill, Commons member for Bonavista-Twillingate, issued a clarifying statement today about remarks attributed to him at a press conference in Quebec, Thursday night, during which he commented on the flag question.

"What I was seeking to say was that the Liberal party at its national rally in January, 1961, had recommended that a Liberal government should take steps to give Canada a distinctive flag within a year of taking office and that Mr. Pearson, as party leader, had subsequently stated that he would favor "a distinctive Canadian flag which could not be mistaken for the flag of any other country" and he also said "whatever action Parliament might take in regard to a Canadian flag, I believe that the Union Jack should be accepted by Canada as an emblem to be flown "on all occasions which are concerned with our Commonwealth association and our status as a monarchy with the Queen as head of that Commonwealth".

Mr. Pickersgill said "When I asked if this would mean two flags, I said, yes, one distinctive of Canada and one containing the Union Jack for our association in the Commonwealth.

A Canadian Press report of the press conference quoted Mr. Pickersgill as saying there is no reason why Canada can't have two official flags just as he has two official languages.

The Quebec report, quoting Mr. Pickersgill, added:

"There must be a distinctive flag but if some people want a flag to recall their distinctive French heritage, I have no objection.

"My ancestor came here from the United States to live under the British flag, and I think I have as much right as anyone to have my heritage represented.

"That is why if you ask us to repudiate our past there would be cause for division."

RESIGNS

B.C. CAN'T STAND MORE DEBT SAYS GIBSON

'Sober Up' Plea on Spending

By AB KENT

A warning to Premier Bennett to "sober up" his financial policies, because the people of British Columbia can stand no more debt, was made by North Vancouver Liberal member Gordon Gibson in the legislature Thursday.

In a 60-minute speech, the opposition member repeated again and again "you've gone too far", addressing himself directly to the premier.

Mr. Gibson's needling pricked the premier,

"What's that?" he snapped.

"He said you should sober up," called a voice from the NDP-CCF ranks.

The premier, a strict teetotaller, rose angrily: "Somebody else should try that too, for a change," he said, glowering at Mr. Gibson.

'SHAME'

The remark was met with loud cries of "Shame".

At one point in the debate, Mr. Gibson was warned by Speaker Hugh Shantz to steer away from the subject of B.C. Electric compensation, a matter in process of going before the courts.

The member accused Mr. Bennett of "letting down" the shareholders of B.C. Electric who were paid an arbitrary sum for their stock in the appropriated company.

"You definitely told me that if you got the green light to buy the B.C. Electric you would take the full responsibility," Mr. Gibson said.

"And I say it again tonight," the premier put in.

"You said it would be done honestly, fairly and justly and no one would be hurt," the member went on.

"I said I wouldn't interpret a single section. It's all there," said the premier, waving a copy of the takeover bill.

"You aren't Jesus Christ in this country, nor the law . . . there are arbitration courts . . . the law will say what was fair.

"You promised you'd do these people right and you've let us down. Let those shares go to court . . ." Mr. Gibson said.

Mr. Shantz ruled that he was getting near the forbidden ground and Mr. Gibson replied he would "slow down."

But he took the opportunity to speak on the subject of the courts. Premier Bennett had silenced him on the same grounds in the past, he pointed out.

"It took me two years to get

'Forced Contributions' To Socreds Under Fire

TO TAKE UP RESIDENCE in preparation for obtaining a divorce from the governor of New York, Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller arrived in Reno, Nevada, on Thursday.

Einar Gunderson, Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Robert Bonner are signing officers for "secret" Social Credit campaign funds, an Opposition MLA charged in the legislature Thursday.

Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCF Vancouver East) said, "These men handle hundreds of thousands of dollars raised by what are in effect forced contributions from people affected by government decisions".

'ON THE RACK'

He said such people as contractors and business officers are "on the rack" because they seek licences or contracts from the government.

The charge was denied by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"That is certainly not true," he called back.

Mr. Macdonald made a special attack on the role of Mr. Gunderson, one-time Social Credit finance minister — in business and government.

"Mr. Gunderson has been turning up on numerous occasions wherever public money changes hands, like Barnaby, in Babes of Toyland," said Mr. Macdonald.

He said Mr. Gunderson had been a director of Black Ball Ferries, "I suppose he is still in with the Wenner-Gren promoters; and involved with other firms.

"Mr. Gunderson says he resigned a week before the Black Ball deal (the government bought out the company for $6,700,000).

"What director is it who knows nothing about a transaction in which the entire Canadian assets are being disposed of? Why was he made a director if not to get terms out of this government?

'IMPROPER'

"As a government official (he's also a member of the Toll Authority), it is highly improper for him to be a director and be associated with a company doing business with the government.

"This would not be tolerated if the political morality of this province had not been allowed to sink under 10 years of Social Credit rule.

"Why do companies put Mr. Gunderson on their boards in the first place if it's not because they expect better terms of this government?"

Mr. Macdonald repeated the NDP's earlier plea for a legislative inquiry into campaign funds. He suggested legislation either controlling them to five cents a voter or allotting them entirely from public funds, as proposed in Quebec.

. . . NDP

Mr. Macdonald referred to the situation as "the pipeline scandals of 1961."

"The government has been like a mother to Frank McMahon," he said.

James Rhodes (NDP-CCF—Delta), seconding the motion, compared the issue to "the scandal which rocked the Liberal government out of Ottawa in 1957."

He said the $11,250,000 profit represented a cost of $35 per B.C. household "before the valves had even been turned on."

"This is why we have said natural monopolies such as pipelines don't belong in private hands at all."

'UNSOUND'

Mr. Kiernan said the NDP attack was "unsound, uncalled for and unsupported by fact."

Mr. McMahon was unable to defend himself in the legislature, he pointed out.

He said the reason McMahon's company got the franchise was that Peace River Pipe Lines, the original applicants, had every chance to go ahead and build their line, but kept seeking further "bargains," until the government finally said no.

Besides, their line would have carried only 24,000 barrels of oil a day; Western Pacific's line could handle up to 70,000.

It was true that Peace Pipe Lines' fees would have been "marginally" lower, but because of the quantity of oil carried, Western's rates would decline on a sliding basis.

Mr. Kiernan praised Mr. McMahon as "a pioneer" who had the courage to build his West-coast Transmission line when nobody else believed it would pay off.

He said the McMahon line was justified by the jobs, and royalties and expansion it would bring to the province. By keeping it an all-B.C. line, instead of the Peace line's plan to go into Alberta, "we are masters in our own house."

Mr. Macfarlane said the NDP was really only proposing public ownership of pipelines. Apart from that all its motion did was to attack a man who had not received a chance to defend himself.

SMEARING HIM

"It is not to condemn the government but to smear and condemn a man without full and impartial hearing."

Mr. Macfarlane suggested the proper move would be to call a special legislative committee inquiry into the pipeline situation.

"We're on the verge here of perhaps making the same mistake as last August—of being stampeded without knowing all the facts."

He was referring to the B.C. Electric takeover last Aug. 1, which later resulted in a fierce battle between the government and shareholders over terms of compensation.

Impaired By Drugs

VANCOUVER — A 30-year-old man who said he had been an addict was fined $50 Wednesday for driving while impaired by narcotics.

Ernest Sonsteby said he took three narcotics withdrawal pills given him by the British Columbia Narcotic Foundation the day he drove into the back of a bus.

He said he was not impaired by the pills, as normally he used 10-15 caps of heroin a day. He said slippery streets and poor visibility contributed to the accident and symptoms of being under the influence of drugs was caused by a head injury received when he hit his head in the accident.

Magistrate N. J. Bartman said he was imposing a minimum fine because he was impressed with Sonsteby's attempt to give up narcotics.

DIEF DENIES DOUBTS ON U.S. TARIFF CUTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker denied Thursday that he had said he would be surprised if President Kennedy's tariff-cutting program with the Common Market received U.S. congressional approval.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal-Laurier) said in the Commons this statement had been attributed to the prime minister by president Alf Gleave of the National Farmers' Union. A delegation from the farm group led by Mr. Gleave met the prime minister here Wednesday.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that all he could say was that this and some other statements made after the closed meeting "were apparently ex parte statements made by someone else in consequence of discussions that took place."

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Desbrisay Conducts Probe

Chief Justice A. C. Des-Brisay has been appointed to conduct a royal commission inquiry into all aspects of workmen's compensation in B.C.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, who made the announcement during the throne speech debate in the legislature Thursday, said the commission would tackle these questions:

- Amount of compensation paid;
- Effect on industry of bearing the costs;
- Appeal procedures;
- Silicosis;
- Relationship of the medical profession to the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Mr. Peterson said he was sure the commission would make "a thorough review of all matters affecting workmen's compensation."

He said that virtually every trade union in the province has asked for the inquiry. Some of the complaints "were wild and extravagant" but others were definitely valid.

Since workmen's compensation has been in effect in B.C. (it started in 1917) more than $400,000,000 has been paid in injury claims, he said. There has been an improvement in benefits, which have gone from $20 a month for widows in 1917 to $90 a month today.

But at the same time living costs have also increased considerably, Mr. Peterson added.

"There is undoubtedly much room for improvement," he said.

SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME

Yard of Capital Iron and Metals Ltd. is indication of fate awaiting Ss. Glafkos, waiting patiently for wrecker's cutting torch. What Do They Fear About Merger Study?

First Charge Dismissed Against Ex-City Dealer

Crown Failed To Prove Fraudulence

First of nine theft "by failing to account for" charges against former city real estate dealer Milton Harter King was dismissed in city police court today.

In a lengthy summation Magistrate William Ostler told the court the Crown had failed to prove King had made fraudulent use of $3,000 given him in trust by Patterson-Hunt Building Ltd.

Almost immediately after the decision came down, plans were being made for trial on the second of nine charges.

Defence lawyer David Hummell based his case on three points, and Magistrate Ostler dealt with each in his concluding remarks. He had previously changed the trial to a preliminary hearing.

WORD OMITTED

First, Mr. Hummel had contended the charge against his client was improperly framed, as it ommitted the word "convert."

"Despite the able submission on the part of the defence, I do not find this a good objection," said the magistrate.

He then pointed out precedents backing his refusal to accept the contention.

Secondly, Mr. Hummel put forth the argument that conversion of funds must be proven, even if the word convert is not framed within the charge. Using the same precedents Mr. Ostler refused to accept the defence's point.

MUST BE PROVEN

"The third, and last, is Mr. Hummell's most important point," said the magistrate. "This was the argument that the Crown has not shown Mr. King made 'fraudulent' use of the funds at his disposal."

Under the statute this must be proven, Mr. Ostler pointed out, and it had not been on this charge.

"The Crown did prove Mr. King had received money from Patterson-Hunt Building Limited, and it also was shown some was honestly paid, and some was not paid at all. The onus was then on the Crown to prove the failure of payments was fraudulent. This was not done."

"Even though the accounting figures might suggest it," said Mr. Ostler, "there is nothing to show that the accused used any of the money improperly."

On Wednesday a day will be set for trial on the next charge, theft by failing to account for $403, the property of Thomas and Rebecca Bennett.

Mr. Hummell elected trial by magistrate on the charge and said his client will plead not guilty.

TRAFFIC STUDY BACKED DESPITE $76,000 COST

Mayor R. B. Wilson today said he supports an over-all traffic study for Greater Victoria even though it costs $76,000.

Mayor Wilson said he had three reasons for supporting the unanimous recommendation of engineers from the four municipalities.

"First, this type of detailed study is a highly-specialized thing. Our civic engineers have neither the time nor the staff to carry out the study and still do their regular work.

"A considerable part of the study requires use of the big computing machines and none of our municipalities has one."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

"A" group of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1.30 p.m. at the Monerey parking lot for a survey hike through the north area of Francis Park.

A roofing bee will be held on the Nature House at 9.30 a.m. Saturday.

City engineer J. C. Garnett Thursday said beautification of Douglas Street north of the Roundabout will begin within a week. Program includes sidewalk improvement, construction of boulevards and planting of Scarlet Oak and Tulip Trees, installation of median traffic control strips and laying a watermain along the road.

Foot-Sore Mothers Get $36,000

Marching mothers in the Greater Victoria area Thursday night took in a record $36,000 for the B.C. Poliomyelitis and Rehabilitation Foundation.

Last year in the same area the one-hour porchlight blitz brought in $33,600.

Returns from the outlying districts which are canvassed during the daytime, from mail donations, and stationary collection cans will not be known until Wednesday. But officials of the 1962 campaign are confident it will surpass last year's final total of $38,000.

Chairman of the 1962 appeal, Mrs. Kenneth Murphy, said that the enthusiasm of the mothers was the most heartening feature in the campaign.

Mrs. Murphy also praised the community spirit shown by Edward Chamberlin and the staff of the Canadian Imperial Bank who took in the evening's returns.

"Some of the returns didn't come in until nearly 10. Perhaps the mothers were being a little too enthusiastic," she said.

Five MLAs Attend Hobbs Funeral At Revelstoke

The funeral for the New Democratic Party-CCF member will be at St. Peter's Anglican Church Saturday in his home town of Revelstoke.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan, Randolph Harding of Kaslo-Slocan, Alex MacDonald of Vancouver East and Jim Rhodes of Delta, will represent the NDP-CCF.

Speaker Hugh Shantz, Social Credit MLA for North Okanagan will represent the government.

Assessment Threatens Small Yard

100% Increase In Levy on Land

A small shipyard manager today told Victoria court of revision he may have to consider closing the plant because of more than a 100 per cent increase in land assessment.

However, the court sustained the land assessment boost from $19,440 last year to $42,010 after Mr. Veres conceded that it substantially reflected 50 per cent of current market value.

"But we certainly couldn't afford to pay higher taxes in that proportion," he argued.

The company provides Victoria with a valuable service because it caters to a large fleet of fishing vessels, he said.

NO BENEFIT

"It will not benefit anyone if we are forced to close our operation because of taxes."

Court chairman Coun. Joseph Casey said the tribunal only had jurisdiction over assessment evaluation and could not consider any plea of inability to pay taxes.

He pointed out that even though the assessment is up, it was theoretically possible for the total tax bill in dollars to be roughly the same as last year if there was a drop in the mill rate.

NEW FORMULA

City assessor Alfred Joyce said the reason for the increase was the new provincial government formula requiring assessment to reach a level of 50 per cent of current market value.

He added that under the new formula, the assessment on McKay-Cormack buildings had been lowered as had the machinery assessment.

No Shadow No Snow

Mist over the city this morning heralded an early spring.

It was sufficiently dense to stop the sun from casting shadows—especially the all-important shadow of the groundhog.

According to legend, if the groundhog sees his shadow on emerging from his burrow Feb. 2, it's back to the basement to wait out another six weeks of winter. So—no shadow, no snow.

Weatherman William Mackie, a mere human who must rely on such primitive aids as thermometers, barographs, anemometers, and calculus, and thereby can predict weather only 36 hours ahead, today called for cloudy skies with occasional rain tonight and Saturday, fog patches, and light winds.

"Minimums across the area tonight will range between 40 and 45 degrees," he said, "and the maximum Saturday will be 50 degrees."

'Outsiders' Puzzle Mayor

Mayor R. B. Wilson today expressed astonishment at vehement criticism launched against the city by Oak Bay and Esquimalt because aldermen had decided they wanted a formal study of metro government or amalgamation.

The attack was contained in a joint statement hammered out at a secret meeting of Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils. It was delivered to the press but Victoria and Saanich councils—which were accused of "discourtesy" in bypassing intermunicipal committee — apparently did not receive copies. (See text. page 5.)

The statement was framed in the shape of an ultimatum that Victoria and Saanich meet certain conditions in speaking to Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils.

NO "SHORTCUTTING"

Mayor Wilson denied there was any "shortcutting of intermunicipal committee" and pointed out a report on the city's decision already had been sent to the committee in accordance with the committee's own request that all councils make up their own minds and report back.

"We are following the normal channels of procedure," said the puzzled mayor.

He also said he found it difficult to understand "why Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils are so afraid of a study under the Municipal Act."

"WE'RE NOT MAD"

Mayor Wilson said he had no comment on the manner in which Oak Bay and Esquimalt made their pact and announced it.

"We don't want to introduce any rancor in this. We're not mad at anyone," he said.

Earlier, Saanich Reeve Stanley Murphy said he may propose to his council that Victoria and Saanich "go-it-alone" in seeking a formal study in view of the Oak Bay and Esquimalt action.

He added he thought the "climate is favorable for amalgamation."

The Oak Bay-Esquimalt statement said both councils were opposed to amalgamation and metro and also to any unification of police and fire-fighting services.

It claimed a formal study of amalgation could lead to imposition of a merger on one of the municipalities if three others agreed to it.

PROVE IT

It demanded that Mayor Wilson and Reeve Murphy submit a brief to Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils and prove that a study "has sufficient merit to warrant serious consideration."

The statement offered informal discussion of amalgamation at the intermunicipal level followed by a vote of ratepayers.

It ended with a somewhat vague ultimatum:

"We have now made our offer to Victoria and Saanich to deal with these matters in what we consider to be a reasonable and proper fashion.

"Should our offer be refused we will consider it necessary in carrying out our duties as councillors in our respective municipalities to take whatever action may be necessary.

"We sincerely trust that this will not be necessary."

GUIDEPOST

Mayor Wilson pointed out that the Municipal Act study was designed by the legislature as a guidepost for approaching such surveys and it should be heeded.

He added that no study would be worth anything if some money wasn't spent to obtain a thorough analysis. A formal study would be substantially subsidized by the provincial government but an informal study, as proposed by Oak Bay and Esquimalt, would be paid entirely by the ratepayers.

Mayor Wilson said only if the study recommended metro could the municipal affairs minister use power "to decide" whether or not there would be a vote. If amalgamation were recommended, no vote could be forced by the government. It would have to be voluntarily ordered by the municipalities.

"Even if a vote were held under the Act, it would still require approval from two-thirds of the ratepayers," he said.

"The thing is so loaded with safeguards, it is difficult to understand why Oak Bay and Esquimalt fear such a study."

ONE-WAY OAKALLA TICKET

Jet-Age Justice For Two Sharpies

Early one morning last week, two Ontario men boarded a plane at Patricia Bay for Vancouver after paying for two tickets to Toronto by a cheque.

A few hours later they were back in Victoria, appeared in court and were each sentenced to a year in prison after pleading guilty to obtaining goods by false pretences.

Sidney RCMP said the men, James Eldon Greer of Toronto and George Gilroy Thompson of Picton, arrived at the airport at 8.45 a.m. shortly before the plane left for Vancouver.

IN HURRY

They told the TCA clerk they were in a hurry to get to Toronto because there had "been a death in the family." They said they hadn't time to get any money from the bank and presented a cheque for $198 drawn on the main Victoria branch, Royal Bank of Canada.

To back up their integrity they told the ticket clerk they worked for a car sales firm in Victoria.

Shortly after Greer and Thompson had left for Vancouver the ticket clerk contacted the bank only to be told the cheque was worthless, and he notified TCA authorities at Vancouver.

The two were already sitting aboard the connecting jet to Toronto when they were taken off by airline officials and held for Richmond RCMP.

RCMP from Sidney happened to be taking prisoners to the mainland by amphibious plane that morning. Greer and Thompson were simply placed aboard for the return trip and were back at Patricia Bay by 11.45 a.m.

At 2.30 p.m. the same day they appeared before Magistrate D. G. Ashby in RCMP court and were each sentenced to a year in Oakalla prison.

Tax Cut Plea By TV-Hit Theatre Men

G. A. Sutherland, president of the B.C. Exhibitors' Association, sent a brief to Premier Bennett and all MLAs saying since the advent of television movie attendance has plunged 50 per cent in B.C.

During the same time, since 1953, he said the number of theatres in operation has been cut by only 17 per cent.

"It is obvious that unless immediate and complete relief is granted, a large number of additional theatres will soon have to go out of business," said Mr. Sutherland.

"It is not economically possible for 83 per cent of the theatres to exist on 50 per cent of the attendance," he added.

Mr. Sutherland said the government tax takes 9.09 per cent of the theatre-owners' gross income.

BOTTLE BATTLE

'Squares' Squelch Gardeners

The Victoria Horticultural Society is looking for milk bottles; but they must be round, if you please.

The society which uses them as containers at their flower shows, has been collecting them ever since the milk dairy industry changed to "square" milk bottles or cardboard containers.

Major George A. Wiggan, secretary-treasurer, said the change unwittingly created a problem not only for the society but for other garden clubs in B.C.

HIDE CONTAINERS

He explained that specially made cardboard collars will only fit the round bottles. The collars are used to hide the containers from view at flower shows.

"Round bottles are now becoming as scarce as hens' teeth," he said, "especially the pint size."

The society last year acquired some bottles from a local dairy, he said, but none are available now as the changeover from round to square has been completed.

"Who would have thought a few years ago that the actions of the dairy industry would indirectly affect one of the main hobbies of this province?" Major Wiggan asked.

HOUSE PROBE SOUGHT ON PIPELINE PROFITS

TWO-FACED PICASSO A PROBLEM

LONDON, (UPI)—Whoever buys the $170,000 Pablo Picasso painting, "Death of Harlequin," at auction here will face a peculiar problem—what to do about a $60,000 Picasso painted on its back.

The two-faced painting, one of 32 pictures belonging to author Somerset Maugham which will be auctioned, is on plasterboard about three-sixteenths of an inch thick.

"Whoever buys it would stand some chance of splitting it into two separate pictures—but at great risk," said a spokesman.

He said it had been known for some time that there was another painting on the back of "Harlequin," but that its worth was not realized until the picture was taken out of its frame to be auctioned.

PICKERSGILL

Flies 2 Flags, Distinctive, Emblematic

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal MP J. W. Pickersgill said today statements by Opposition Leader Pearson mean two flags for Canada.

Mr. Pickersgill, Commons member for Bonavista-Twillingate, issued a clarifying statement today about remarks attributed to him at a press conference in Quebec, Thursday night, during which he commented on the flag question.

"What I was seeking to say was that the Liberal party at its national rally in January, 1961, had recommended that a Liberal government should take steps to give Canada a distinctive flag within a year of taking office and that Mr. Pearson, as party leader, had subsequently stated that he would favor "a distinctive Canadian flag which could not be mistaken for the flag of any other country" and he also said "whatever action Parliament might take in regard to a Canadian flag, I believe that the Union Jack should be accepted by Canada as an emblem to be flown on all occasions which are concerned with our Commonwealth association and our status as a monarchy with the Queen as head of that Commonwealth".

SAID YES

Mr. Pickersgill said "When I was asked if this would mean two flags, I said, yes, one distinctive of Canada and one containing the Union Jack for our association in the Commonwealth.

A Canadian Press report of the press conference quoted Mr. Pickersgill as saying there is no reason why Canada can't have two official flags just as he has two official languages.

The Quebec report, quoting Mr. Pickersgill, added:

"There must be a distinctive flag but if some people want a flag to recall their distinctive French heritage, I have no objection.

"My ancestor came here from the United States to live under the British flag, and I think I have as much right as anyone to have my heritage represented.

"That is why if you ask us to repudiate our past there would be cause for division."

Army Tanks Converge On Paris

PARIS (AP) — French Army tanks converged on Paris today to forestall any attempt by the right-wing secret army to overthrow President Charles de Gaulle as reports of an imminent peace pact for Algeria persisted.

With mounted machine-guns, two squadrons totalling 32 tanks moved on the capital to give armored support to 25,000 riot police placed on the alert against the threat of an uprising by the rightist underground fighting against independence for the North African territory.

De Gaulle will address the country by radio and television Monday night in what shaped up as a crucial statement on the long secret negotiations with the Algerian Nationalist Liberation Front to end the seven-year rebellion.

Informed diplomatic sources said the agreement already had been drafted and needed only the formal signatures of both sides.

COUP ATTEMPT FEARED

France's allies have been notified that the De Gaulle regime seriously fears an attempted coup by the right-wing extremists either in France or Algeria—or in both places—when the peace accord is announced.

The Algerian rebel cabinet was meeting today in Tunis to take up the projected peace accord before putting it before a special session of the National Revolutionary Council—a sort of rebel parliament—in Tripoli within the next two weeks.

Cuban Trade Policy Stands

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Prime Minister Diefenbaker in House of Commons today served notice on the United States that Canadian policy on trade with Cuba will be made in Ottawa, not in Washington.

Amid loud applause from the government members the Prime Minister firmly rejected the suggestion made by United States Secretary Dean Rusk that Cuba had been using dollars earned in its trade with Canada to "promote Communist subversion in neighboring countries" of Latin-America.

Mr. Diefenbaker cited statistics to show that Cuba had not been earning dollars in its trade with Canada.

CANADA NOT NAMED

The question came up in the Commons as a result of an appeal made by Mr. Rusk that friendly nations follow the isolate-Cuba line of the Organization of American States.

Mr. Rusk made the appeal at a press conference. However he declined to single out Canada or any other nation when asked whether Canadian co-operation would be necessary to make the OAS policy towards Cuba effective. (See story, Page 5).

Canada is the only independent nation in the western hemisphere outside of the OAS. Foreign ministers of the organization voted this week to toss out Cuba but implementation of this vote is expected to take some time.

FIGURES PROVE POINT

Reaction in Canada's capital was that Mr. Rusk's admonition was directed at this country.

The criticism, if directed at Canada, was unfounded, the Prime Minister indicated. And he had the trade figures to back up his claim.

Canadian exports to Cuba were nearly five times her imports from that country. Consequently Canadian trade actually was taking up dollars that the Cuban government earned elsewhere. Far from providing Cuba with dollars by which it might spread Communism Canada was in fact "soaking up" dollars that might otherwise be used by Cuba in its efforts to make Latin America Communist, the Prime Minister pointed out.

He made it clear that Can-

PEACE RIVER LICENCE BID

B.C. Prepares For Showdown

Any doubts about the B.C. government's intentions of actually building the Peace River power project were dispelled Thursday night by new plans announced in the legislature.

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston admitted that there were such doubts abroad.

He said that even businessmen from the Peace River country met "a stone wall" when they came to Vancouver six weeks ago to seek financing for local projects.

And at the same time he announced the move which could bring a final showdown on the issue with the federal government.

Mr. Williston disclosed these new plans:

- Surveys are under way for possible extension of the PGE railway to the dam site at Portage Mountain;
- Studies are also being made for a pulp mill there which would operate for 15 years on salvage wood from the flooded area;
- A water licence application is now being drawn up;
- Bids will close March 8 on three diversion tunnels (first major step in the project) and 50 sets of specifications have been taken out by interested firms;
- Construction will be phased so that the level of water in the new reservoir is raised at the same rate that timber is harvested to avoid waste;
- Work will start this spring on a new transmission line between Lillooet and Prince George which may be extended to the dam site to provide power during construction;
- After the dam is built the power flow will be reversed and the line used to carry Peace power to the north central area.

TB Hits Edmonton Children

EDMONTON (CP) — Five students and a teacher of a suburban high school have been found to be suffering from tuberculosis and about 85 other students showed positive reaction to a skin test, Dr. H. H. Stephens, director of Alberta's TB control division, said today.

Earlier Dr. Herman Siemans said 92 students and two teachers had contracted the disease.

Dr. Stephens said a positive reaction did not necessarily indicate a person had contracted TB.

The TB cases were uncovered in Salisbury High School, six miles southeast of Edmonton, after a teacher was found to be an active carrier.

Liberal Urges Investigation

Oak Bay Liberal Alan Macfarlane today called for a special committee of the legislature to investigate charges made Thursday that oil promoters have made huge private fortunes at public expense.

Mr. Macfarlane filed notice that he will move the committee be set up by the House.

New Democratic Party-CCF member Alex Macdonald of Vancouver East charged that Mr. McMahon had made $11,250,000 without risking a cent through a government franchise to build his Western Pacific Products crude oil pipeline from the Peace River to Vancouver.

Mr. Macfarlane's motion said a committee should be empowered to examine these "serious allegations."

The committee should have power to send for persons, papers and records in order to make a report on the oil and gas industry, it said.

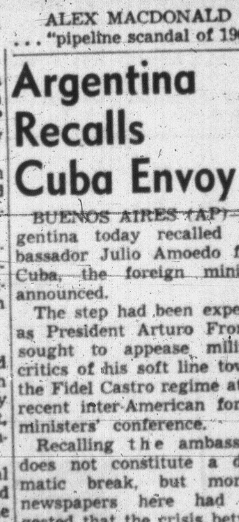
By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

The Social Credit government Thursday defeated a non-confidence motion based on charges it allowed oil tycoon Frank McMahon to make gigantic profits at the taxpayers' expense.



ALEX MACDONALD
. . . "pipeline scandal of 1961"

The vote came after a fierce attack on Mr. McMahon in the legislature by New Democratic Party-CCF member Alex Macdonald, of Vancouver East.

Mr. Macdonald said Mr. McMahon and his friends made $11,250,000 from transferring rights of way from one company to another in order to build the new crude oil pipeline from the Peace River country to Vancouver.

The rights of way were transferred from Westcoast Transmission to Western Pacific Products, which actually built the line. Both are McMahon companies.

32-14 VOTE

The four Liberals voted with the government, because, said Oak Bay MLA Alan Macfarlane, they could not condemn a man without a full hearing.

The vote was 32-14.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, his voice shaking with anger, branded the NDP charges as "being completely at variance with the facts".

He said future production and marketing of the oil would justify completely the McMahon pipeline.

Mr. Macdonald said the McMahon interests also took options—with no initial investment—on Western stock which since had soared in value.

FORCED OUT

He said the government had made its conditions so tough that another pipeline company had to back out of the project, leaving McMahon the only contender for a franchise.

He linked McMahon to Social Credit campaign funds and propaganda which helped the party win 1960's election.

"The motorists of the province should know that when they pay for their gas, they will be paying off these promoters' secret profits for years to come. They should know they will be paying off the political debts of the Social Credit government.

"It is a disgrace to this province that any government should be allowed to reward its friends by allowing profiteering in public utilities whereby the consumer pays, and industry pays, and legitimate investors pay, for this government which has lost the right to govern."

His non-confidence motion regretted that the throne speech did not contain any measures to protect the public

Argentina Recalls Cuba Envoy

The step had been expected as President Arturo Frondizi sought to appease military critics of his soft line toward the Fidel Castro regime at the recent inter-American foreign ministers' conference.

Recalling the ambassador does not constitute a diplomatic break, but morning newspapers here had suggested that the crisis between the president and the nation's leading military men was nearing an end. They predicted a gradual break in relations with Cuba.

However, many officers were reported still demanding the immediate complete break which the nation's military leadership demanded in an ultimatum to the president Thursday night.

B.C. CAN'T STAND MORE DEBT SAYS GIBSON

'Sober Up' Plea on Spending

By AB KENT

A warning to Premier Bennett to "sober up" his financial policies, because the people of British Columbia can stand no more debt, was made by North Vancouver Liberal member Gordon Gibson in the legislature Thursday.

In a 60-minute speech, the opposition member repeated again and again "you've gone too far", addressing himself directly to the premier.

Mr. Gibson's needling pricked the premier.

"What's that?" he snapped.

"He said you should sober up," called a voice from the NDP-CCF ranks.

The premier, a strict teetotaller, rose angrily: "Somebody else should try that too, for a change," he said, glowering at Mr. Gibson.

The remark was met with loud cries of "Shame".

At one point in the debate, Mr. Gibson was warned by Speaker Hugh Shantz to steer away from the subject of B.C. Electric compensation, a matter in process of going before the courts.

The member accused Mr. Bennett of "letting down" the shareholders of B.C. Electric who were paid an arbitrary sum for their stock in the appropriated company.

"You definitely told me that if you got the green light to buy the B.C. Electric you would take the full responsibility," Mr. Gibson said.

"And I say it again tonight," the premier put in.

"You said it would be done honestly, fairly and justly and no one would be hurt," the member went on.

"I said I wouldn't interpret a single section. It's all there," said the premier, waving a copy of the takeover bill.

"You aren't Jesus Christ in this country, nor the law . . . there are arbitration courts . . . the law will say what was fair.

"You promised you'd do these people right and you've let us down. Let those shares go to court . . ." Mr. Gibson said.

Mr. Shantz ruled that he was getting near the forbidden ground and Mr. Gibson replied he would "slow down."

But he took the opportunity to speak on the subject of the courts. Premier Bennett had silenced him on the same grounds in the past, he pointed out.

"It took me two years to get

* * *

* * *

Police brought down the sarcastic wrath of citizens by arresting a 15-year-old for throwing snowballs, and clapping him in jail until he was released on bail.

* * *

Special Officer Levy faced Magistrate Pemberton to explain why he had rung a false fire alarm (Feb. 1) and was acquitted of blame when he said he had seen a bright light shooting up from one of the Chinese houses. However, the light is still unexplained.

ONE OF THE ROOMIEST FORDS
EVER BUILT!

Lots of room for six happy people—stretch-out, spread-out room for everybody. The '62 Fairlane has one of the roomiest interiors of any Ford ever built. That goes for trunk space too. Yet the '62 Fairlane is sleek and trim on the outside. Size it up for yourself—this week—at your Ford Dealer.

POSTURE-PERFECT FRONT SEATS—they give you chair-high comfort that you'll find especially enjoyable on long trips. Foam padding has been generously applied for additional comfort, and the upholstery fabrics are luxurious and long wearing.

DOUBLE-GRIP SAFETY DOOR LATCH—this completely new design is yours in the '62 Fairlane. As the door closes, double-grip arms centre over the striker pin in a real "bear-hug" grip, locking securely into position. A rubber bushing cushions the closing action and results in a door that closes securely, easily, with the solid "thunk" of quality every single time.

SERVICE-FREE FEATURES such as 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, 30,000 mile or 2-year radiator coolant, automatic self-adjusting brakes and corrosion-resistant underbody, bring you a new measure of economy, convenience and quality.

OTHER NEW STANDARDS OF VALUE Besides Fairlane's big car roominess, you also enjoy big car ride with a full 115½" wheelbase. Big car performance is yours, too, with an all-new Challenger V-8 engine or the economical Fairlane Six. The price is exceptionally low—far less than previous Fairlanes; and well under many compacts. Your Ford Dealer gives you a warranty for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.
